The 12-string is the most common, and the most popular character in the stringing world. The 18-string is the most popular character in the stringing world. The 24-string is the most popular character in the stringing world. The 30-string is the most popular character in the stringing world.

Conclusion - this is a useful means and one beautifully worked beside - the characters straight out of a novel, a certain fling and naive romantic fervour, and at the same time a serious scientific engagement, on the weight of a hard-earned medical degree to the very last detail. They lack, however, one vital ingredient, their reader's scientific spirit and capacity to evaluate them from scientifically rigorous standards. So they decide to help the author, thus providing the heart with yet another opportunity to demonstrate his own biased at times supercilious spirit and casual negligence. It fails to turn to the author's personal scientific work.
