The Fields Beneath Gillian Tindall,1980 The streets of London s Kentish Town follow the patterns of older settlements which in turn were shaped by the natural life of the land The author shows how richly rewarding it is to uncover your town s past

The Real Oliver Twist John Waller,2005-10-06 From a parish workhouse to the heart of the industrial revolution from debtors jail to Cambridge University and a prestigious London church Robert Blincoe s political personal and turbulent story illuminates the Dickensian age like never before In 1792 as revolution riot and sedition spread across Europe Robert Blincoe was born in the calm of rural St Pancras parish At four he was abandoned to a workhouse never to see his family again At seven he was sent 200 miles north to work in one of the cotton mills of the dawning industrial age He suffered years of unrelenting abuse a life dictated by the inhuman rhythm of machines Like Dickens most famous character Blincoe rebelled after years of servitude He fought back against the mill owners earning beatings but gaining self respect He joined the campaign to protect children gave evidence to a Royal Commission into factory conditions and worked with extraordinary tenacity to keep his own children from the factories His life was immortalised in one of the most remarkable biographies ever written A Memoir of Robert Blincoe Renowned popular historian John Waller tells the true story of a parish boy s progress with passion and in enthralling detail

Chaucer and the City Ardis Butterfield,2006 Presenting essays exploring Chaucer s identity as a London poet and the urban context for his writings this volume addresses the centrality of the city in Chaucer s work and the importance of Chaucer to a literature and a language of the city

The Past Is a Foreign Country – Revisited David Lowenthal,2015-10-01 The past remains essential and inescapable A quarter century after the publication of his classic account of man s attitudes to his past David Lowenthal revisits how we celebrate expunge contest and domesticate the past to serve present needs He shows how nostalgia and heritage now pervade every facet of public and popular culture History embraces nature and the cosmos as well as humanity The past is seen and touched and tasted and smelt as well as heard and read about Empathy re enactment memory and commemoration overwhelm traditional history A unified past once certified by experts and reliant on written texts has become a fragmented contested history forged by us all New insights into history and memory bias and objectivity artefacts and monuments identity and authenticity and remorse and contrition make this book once again the essential guide to the past that we inherit reshape and bequeath to the future

Dolly's Creek Susan Lawrence,2000-06-11 Between 1990 and 1992 a group of archaeologists mapped the remains of the settlement on the Moorabool and excavated four houses there Like the miners they were drawn to the site by the desire to dig for treasure In Dolly s Creek Susan Lawrence tells the story both of their archaeological research and of the community they uncovered Dolly s Creek uses landscape material objects and documents to gain an understanding of the nature of the diggings community and of the ways in which it changed as the gold rush passed Susan Lawrence s imaginative exploratory approach invites us to engage in the clue finding jigsaw like quality of the archaeological hunt This is a beautifully written book historical ethnography at its best      Building Capitalism (Routledge Revivals) Linda Clarke, 2012-12-06 First published in 1992 this Routledge Revival sees the reissue of a truly original exploration of the nature of urbanization and capitalism Linda Clarke's vital work argues that Urbanization is a product of the social human labour engaged in building as well as a concentration of the labour force The quality of the labour process determines the development of production Changes to the built environment reflect changes in the production process and in particular the development of wage labour To support these arguments the author identifies a qualitatively new historical stage of capitalist building production involving a significant expansion of wage labour and hence capital and the transition from artisan to industrial production Linda Clarke draws from a wide range of original material relating to the development of London from the mid eighteenth to the early nineteenth century to provide a complete description of the development process materials extraction roadbuilding housebuilding paving cleansing etc profiles of builders and contractors involved and a picture of the new working class communities as in Somers Town their living conditions population working environment and politics      Interpreting Archaeology Alexandra Alexandri, Victor Buchli, John Carman, Ian Hodder, Jonathan Last, Gavin Lucas, Michael Shanks, 2013-11-19 This volume provides a forum for debate between varied approaches to the past The authors drawn from Europe North America Asia and Australasia represent many different strands of archaeology They address the philosophical issues involved in interpretation and a desire among archaeologists to come to terms with their own subjective approaches to the material they study a recognition of how past researchers have also imposed their own value systems on the evidence which they presented      The Man who Drew London Gillian Tindall, 2002 The fascinating story of the artist engraver who drew London before and after the Great Fire of 1666 A young engraver making a precarious living wandering around Europe Hollar was employed by an English lord who took him to London where he became known for his fashion plates maps and panoramas      The London Region Philippa Dolphin, Eric G. Grant, Edward Lewis, 1981 Major findings 1 Contaminants in water from one of every three drinking water wells sampled are a potential human health concern 2 Arsenic and uranium derived from geologic sources are potential drinking water concerns 3 Dissolved solids concentrations in groundwater are increasing in some areas 4 Artificial recharge and groundwater withdrawals are moving contaminants to deeper parts of basin fill aquifers      Bulletin - Society for the Study of Labour History Society for the Study of Labour History, 1977

Bibliography of Printed Works on London History to 1939 Heather Creaton, Tony Trowles, 1994 The history of London is so important in national and indeed international terms it seems extraordinary that this is the first general bibliography of the subject to appear It contains over 22 000 selected references to books and articles on the history of London from the Dark Ages to the beginning of the Second World War The whole of the former GLC area plus the City is covered Arrangement is by subject and there is a substantial analytical index Material for the bibliography was collected from specialist libraries all over London and beyond It is a starting point for any enquiry about London's development over the centuries whether from the academic historian the amateur or the general enquirer A supplement is planned to cover new material on the period

Making City Histories in Museums Gaynor Kavanagh, Elizabeth Frostick, 1998 Museums are city phenomenon one element within a suite of cultural institutions which most major urban centres support However museums now have a very different agenda from the time of their establishment in the nineteenth century While the majority of cities have museums dedicated to exploring the city itself the approach and range of interests vary enormously What these museums have in common is a commitment to construct or propose an appropriate image of the city which can be engaged with by a broad spectrum of people The contributors consider the making of city histories from very different perspectives and within a number of theoretical frameworks They use case studies and comparisons of practice In particular good practice is highlighted and potential ways forward explored

Historical Dictionary of London Kenneth John Panton, 2001-11-19 Panton details London's growth from its foundation in Roman times to its modern place as one of the world's preeminent financial commercial and cultural capitals Entries cover general themes such as immigration housing street markets and health care as well as specific topics including individual historic buildings financial institutions museums transport modes major city center hotels and West End theaters Significant contributors to the city's government such as the legendary Dick Whittington also receive attention along with immigrant groups and major events such as the Great Fire the Great Plague the development of the subway system and the growth of the Stock Exchange In addition a chronology details major events there are lists of Lord Mayors and leading local government officials and a table outlines population growth over the last two hundred years Appendices contain borough council contact information and world wide web addresses which provide access to additional information through the Internet
