The Social Reality of Death Kathy Charmaz,1980 In this book I aim to take a fresh look from a sociological perspective at both earlier assumptions and current issues about death and dying Specifically the major source of my theoretical perspective is symbolic interactionism By examining the thoughts feelings and actions of the dying and those affected by death from this perspective we can gain greater insight into the subtle relationships these actors have with each other and more over with death Page v

Dying to Serve Maria Rashid,2020-04-07 The Pakistan Army is a uniquely powerful and influential institution with vast landholdings and resources It has deep roots in the colonial armed forces and relies heavily on certain regions to supply its soldiers especially parts of rural Punjab where men have served in the army for generations These men their wives and mothers and the military culture surrounding them are the focus of Maria Rashid s Dying to Serve which innovatively and sensitively addresses the question how does the military thrive when so much of its work results in injury debility and death Taking ritual commemorations of fallen soldiers as one critical site of study Rashid argues that these spectacles of mourning are careful manipulations of affect gendered and structured by the military to reinforce its omnipotence in the lives of its subjects Grounding her study in the famed martial district of Chakwal Rashid finds affect similarly deployed in recruitment and training practices as well as management of death and compensation to families She contends that understanding these affective technologies is crucial to challenging the appeal of the military institution globally

The Love That Moves the Sun Paul Dominiak,2024-08-30 The season of Advent traditionally involved meditation upon the Four Last Things heaven hell death and judgement This ancient but nearly lost sacred art of contemplation encouraged Christians to evaluate who they were what they treasured and how they ought to live in view of the world to come The Love That Moves the Sun revives this ancient practice and marries it with contemporary concerns Each chapter considers one of the Last Things in relation to a modern crisis from the climate emergency rise of populism and racial injustice to the economic inequalities of class In a time of compound crises retrieving the sacred art of contemplating the Last Things gives a vision of hope and direction in a chaotic world of uncertainty The first advent began with an angelic messenger announcing the coming of Christ to Mary The Love That Moves the Sun enables us to hear a fresh annunciation in our own time calling us to join in with God s salvation of a groaning creation and the hope of a new earth where justice dwells

On Feminist Ethics and Politics Claudia Card, 1999 For years mainstream feminist ethics focused criticism on male supremacy Feminist philosophers in this volume adopt a less male focused stance to look closely at oppression's impact on women's agency and on women's relations with women Examining legal social and physical relationships these philosophers confront moral ambiguity moral compromise and complicity in perpetuating oppression Combining personal experience with philosophical inquiry they vividly portray their daily engagement with oppression as both victims and perpetrators They explore such issues as how pornography silences women and radical feminist politics complicity in racism Among these insightful essays Sandra Bartky argues that women share guilt for racism when they benefit from it without protest Susan Brison reflects on uses of narrative in trauma recovery from such experiences as being targeted for rape or murder Joan Callahan examines fallout of derogatory speech directed at lesbians Virginia Held proposes carrying care into marketplaces and governments and in her introduction Claudia Card draws on Primo Levi's conception of gray zones in exploring dangers of character damage to victims of misogyny A fitting companion to Card's highly regarded Feminist Ethics this volume interweaves observations on character political ethics violence and love into an accessible sourcebook for students It tackles some of feminism's most pressing issues and helps readers to identify and then overcome the real damage caused by oppression     Dying and Death Oaks,1993-12     Publications of the Catholic Truth Society
