The New Geography Of European Migrations:

The New Geography of European Migrations Russell King, 1993-11-14 Comprises studies on the changing patterns of European migration following the collapse of Communism in Eastern Europe and the former USSR Provides a brief history of migratory flows and looks at possible scenarios for migration to the year 2050 International Migration in Europe Corrado Bonifazi, 2008 Literaturangaben The New Migration in Europe Khalid Koser, Helma Lutz, 1998-06-12 Recent migration in Europe has a whole range of characteristics which are said to distinguish it from earlier migration and the description new migration is often used Based on a wide range of empirical case studies of the new migration this book asks three critical questions To what extent is the description new conceptually valid How is the new migration defined and by whom How is the new migration experienced by migrants themselves Migration and Religion in Europe Ester Gallo, 2016-04-22 Religious practices and their transformation are crucial elements of migrants identities and are increasingly politicized by national governments in the light of perceived threats to national identity As new immigrant flows shape religious pluralism in Europe longstanding relations between the State and Church are challenged together with majority faith traditions and societies ways of representing and perceiving themselves With attention to variations according to national setting this volume explores the process of reformulating religious identities and practices amongst South Asian communities in European contexts Presenting a wide range of ethnographies including studies of Hinduism Sikhism Jainism and Islam amongst migrant communities in contexts as diverse as Norway Italy the UK France and Portugal Migration and Religion in Europe sheds light on the meaning of religious practices to diasporic communities It examines the manner in which such practices can be used by migrants and local societies to produce distance or proximity as well as their political significance in various host nations Offering insights into the affirmation of national identities and cultures and the implications of this for governance and political discourse within Europe this book will appeal to scholars with interests in anthropology religion and society migration transnationalism and gender Young EU Migrants in London in the Transition to Brexit Aija Lulle, Laura Moroşanu, Russell King, 2022-08-09 London has long been a magnet for migrants millions of whom have been attracted by its economic educational and cultural roles as a truly global city This book examines recent European migration to the London region through the narrated experiences of a large number of younger migrants from old and new EU member states of varying educational and skill backgrounds The research opens multiple windows into the lives of young EU migrants from six different countries before and after the 2016 Referendum on Brexit A key concept which lies at the core of the analysis is the interrelationship between geographical mobility and the youth transition to adulthood Among the dimensions documented are study and employment trajectories housing and social inclusion identity and belonging and transnational ties By paying attention to young people's own accounts of their mobile lives the research pushes the boundaries of traditional understandings of youth transitions and life paths As an indispensable account of young EU migrants during the Brexit process the book will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students across the social sciences especially those interested in migration youth studies and European studies as well as researchers and policy makers

Immigrants and the Informal Economy in Southern Europe Joaquin Arango, Martin Baldwin-Edwards, 2014-06-11 Illegal immigrants constitute a major issue in southern European countries This book is the first piece of published research in this area and gives a comparative analysis of southern European immigration policies Detailed accounts of each country's pattern of informal immigrant employment are located within a broader setting of contemporary immigration controls

Mobility in Transition Izabela Grabowska-Lusinska, Aimee Kuvik, 2025-10-01 This volume presents new research on post accession migration from Central and Eastern Europe in the short period since the EU enlargements of 2004 and 2007 Explanations of post accession migration patterns trends and mechanisms delve into the complexities of these phenomena New groups of migrants and types of migrations are identified such as young migrants often students or graduates without family obligations and without clear plans concerning their future life Case studies on Poland Romania Hungary and Latvia as well as the United Kingdom and Germany being major destination countries divulge the multifaceted nature of transition whether in the form of labour migration short term mobility including among international students or return migration The volume insightfully points towards future migration trends and sets guidelines for further research

The New Europe David Pinder, 1998-06-29 Covering both Western and Eastern Europe this updated version of Western Europe Challenge and Change offers a structured analysis of contemporary European issues and their geographical context

Crossing Borders Cees Gorter, Peter Nijkamp, Jacques Poot, 2018-12-17 Published in 1998 Migration patterns at the global level have become more complex affecting more countries more people and for a greater variety of reasons Consequently international migration is receiving increasing attention throughout the world Migration is an inherently spatial phenomenon But while the spatial patterns themselves have been described in recent surveys of global contemporary international migration the causes and consequences of the spatial patterns have received surprisingly little systematic attention Often migration is seen just from a host country perspective or from a sending country perspective without explicit consideration of the sub national origin and destinations of the flows or linkages between countries It is well known that migration flows follow certain gravity like properties that there is chain migration that certain regions attract more migrants than others that migrants are highly urbanised and that within urban areas there are also concentrations of migrants leading to a reshaping of the urban landscape However such observations are often the result of purely descriptive research or case study research Consequently there is still a need for an integrated multi disciplinary study of the spatial impact and the resulting socio economic and political issues concerning migration This book aims to fill this gap by bringing together a collection of papers which are primarily concerned with the spatial impact of contemporary international migration patterns or with related issues The topics of the papers are wide ranging and the focus varies from broad international perspectives to specific urban areas Two general themes run through the papers The first of these is that migration is an inherently dynamic process which may have either equilibrating or self reinforcing cumulative effects The importance of considering international migration in a dynamic context has come to the fore in several theoretical frameworks which are available in the literature to study this phenomenon The second major theme of the book is the emphasis on the importance of personal networks in shaping international migration patterns leading to pronounced clusters of urban areas from which migrants are drawn and of migrant settlement

Qualitative Research in European Migration Studies Ricard Zapata-Barrero, Evren Yalaz, 2018-06-19

This open access book covers the main issues challenges and techniques concerning the application of qualitative methodologies to the study of migration It discusses theoretical epistemological and empirical questions that must be considered before during and after undertaking qualitative research in migration studies It also covers recent innovative developments and addresses the key issues and major challenges that qualitative migration research may face at different stages i e crafting the research questions defining approaches developing concepts and theoretical frameworks mapping categories selecting cases dealing with concerns of self reflection collecting and processing empirical evidence through various techniques including visual data dealing with ethical issues and developing policy research dialogues Each chapter discusses relative strengths and limitations of qualitative research The chapters also identify the main drivers for qualitative research development in migration studies It is a unique volume as it brings together a multidisciplinary perspective as well as illustrations of different issues derived from the research experience of the recognized authors One additional value of this book is its geographic focus on Europe It seeks to explore theoretical and methodological issues that are raised by distinctive features of the European context This volume will be a useful reference source for scholars and professionals in migration studies and in social sciences as well The publication is also addressed to graduate and post graduate students and more generally to those who embark on the task of doing qualitative research for the first time in the field of migration

Towards a Common European Immigration Policy Bernd von Hoffmann, 2003 Immigration policy has become a very controversial subject for legal policy discussion in the European Union Dramatic demographic changes make it evident that immigration is one of the means for replacing an ageing labour force and maintaining the social system A comprehensive immigration policy has to take into account the needs of the labour market efficient selection procedures and the cost of integration In October 2002 the Institute for Legal Policy at the University of Trier held a workshop on those issues Eminent specialists from different European countries presented papers on different aspects of immigration and integration in an interdisciplinary way These papers and the discussion reports are contained in this volume

West European Immigration and Immigrant Policy in the New Century Anthony M. Messina, 2002-06-30 With one exception all of these nine papers were presented at a Notre Dame conference titled Europe The New Melting Pot Edited by Messina government and international relations U of Notre Dame the contributions explore post World War II immigration to Western Europe in the context of immigration policy Several of the papers explore the possible relevance of the U S paradigm of ethnic incorporation to the European situation Specific topics include the demographics of mass migration state responses to refugees and asylum seekers a critique of Waldinger s model of ethnic incorporation and cultural minority rights in public education Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Population Migration and the Changing World Order W. T. S. Gould,A. M. Findlay,1994-09-06 International population migration has recently become a major topic of renewed interest to the global community With the ending of the Cold War many of the physical and political barriers to migration have fallen and as international economic disparities have widened the incentive for movement has grown In many countries new legislative and administrative restrictions have been imposed on the immigration of economic migrants and refugees Population Migration and the Changing World Order is a collection of 16 papers built around the theme of how global migration systems have been affected by recent geopolitical and geoeconomic changes It contains general introductory and concluding overviews and three sections that focus on movements within the Developed World from the Third World to the Developed World and within the Third World These case study chapters draw on original research from a wide range of geographical areas including Europe Asia Australia Africa and North America and deal thematically with specific migrant categories both in terms of origin and destination workers and families skilled and unskilled refugees and school leavers rich and poor Overall this collection offers a global perspective by geographers on a widespread phenomenon of growing concern and importance It presents international migration in the 1990s not as a threat to economic and political stability but rather as an opportunity for migrants and states to react positively to the new and still changing world order New Borders ANTONIS VRADIS; EVIE PAPADA; JOE PAINTER; ANNA PAP.,Antonis Vradis,Evie Papada,Joe Painter,Anna Papoutsi, How has the migrant crisis shaped Europe s borders Proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society and Monthly Record of Geography Royal Geographical Society (Great Britain),1889 The Management of International Migration Jeannette Money,1998
