Social Problems An Ecological Perspective:

The Sociology of Social Problems Adam Jamrozik, Luisa Nocella, 1998-07-13 Social problems such as unemployment poverty and drug addiction are a fact of life in industrialised societies This book examines the sociology of social problems from interesting and challenging perspectives It analyses how social problems emerge and are defined as such who takes responsibility for them who is threatened by them and how they are managed solved or ignored The authors examine and critique existing theories of social problems before developing their own theoretical framework Their theory of residualist conversion of social problems explains how certain social problems threaten legitimate power structures so that problems of a social or political nature are transformed into personal problems and the helping professions are left to intervene This book will become a key reference on class inequality and social intervention and an important text for students in sociology and social work courses Social Problems and Ecological Perspective Wallace, 2001-07 Sociological Practice John G. Bruhn, Howard Rebach, 2007-11-15 This second edition of a classic text in the field has been revisited by its authors and extensively reworked It incorporates new case studies based on the authors experiences as well as one completely new chapter The first edition of Clinical Sociology was published in 1996 Its goal was to explore various approaches to problem solving at the micro meso and macro levels of social complexity Health Promotion in Multicultural Populations Michael V. Its budget now in the tens of billions of dollars has become a prominent target for welfare reformers and outraged citizens. Indeed, if public opinion ruled AFDC would be discarded entirely and replaced with employment. Yet it persists. Steven Teles's provocative study reveals why and tells us what we should do about it. Teles argues that over the last thirty years political debate on AFDC has been dominated by an impasse created by what he calls ideological dissensus: an enduring conflict between opposing cultural elites that have largely disregarded public opinion. Thus he contends one must examine the origins and persistence of elite conflict in order to fully comprehend AFDC's immunity to the reform it truly needs: the kind that unites the elements of order, equality, and individualism central to the American creed. One of the first studies to analyze AFDC from a New Democrat position, Whose Welfare sheds new light on the controversial role of the courts in AFDC, the rise of welfare waivers in the mid 1980s, the failure of the Clinton welfare plan, and the victory of block granting over policy-oriented welfare reform. Teles, however, goes beyond mere critical analysis to advocate specific approaches to reform. His thoughtful call for compromise built around the centrality of work, individual responsibility, and opportunity offers a means for dissolving dissensus and genuine hope for changing an outdated and ineffectual welfare system. Based on interviews with participants in the AFDC policymaking process as well as an unparalleled synthesis of the voluminous AFDC literature, Whose Welfare will appeal to a wide array of welfare scholars, policymakers, and citizens eager to better understand the tumultuous history of this problematic program and how it might fare in the wake of the fall elections.

Contemporary Human Behavior Theory Susan P. Robbins, Pranab Chatterjee, Edward R. Canda, 2006. This covers both the traditional and the most current and contemporary theories from a comparative theory perspective. Intended to be a source for comparison purposes, it is organized to include contemporary developments in traditional lifespan of the theory, coverage of the research that supports it, an analysis of the validity of that research, and a discussion of updated contemporary issues. It also includes new content on ecofeminism, neurobiology, neurotransmission, and behavior, feminist standpoint theory, theories of bisexual and transgender identity development, the role of shame in women's development, ethnic cultural identity development, and cultural competence theories of political economy and transpersonal theory.
