Social Portrait Of Europe September 1998:

Quantitative Methods in Educational Research Stephen Gorard,2010-07-01 This is a comprehensive guide to quantitative research rooted in the author's own teaching and research. In particular, it challenges both the student who does not do numbers and the student who does nothing but numbers and who therefore fails to interpret or challenge his/her results. The book shows how all educational researchers need to do quantitative research, even if only in the sense of reading other people's research findings. In fact, the book argues that the conventional distinction between primary and secondary research data is inadequate since there is enormous need/opportunity for conducting research through using and reinterpreting secondary data. This leads to one of the main selling points of the book: Gorard's idea of the 'idle researcher' who makes valuable contributions to the research literature by using data gathered by other researchers.

European Media Law Oliver Castendyk, E. J. Dommering, Alexander Scheuer, 2008-01-01 Supplies an in-depth commentary on EU media law with detailed analysis of all important legislation and court decisions. It leads European lawyers with vast knowledge and practical experience of media law to provide detailed expert commentary.

Schools, Markets and Choice Policies Stephen Gorard, John Fitz, Chris Taylor, 2003 Resulting from research conducted into choice in secondary education, this text provides context analysis and discussion. In assessing the impact of choice policies not only upon the education system but also upon wider society, it provides insight into economic and social segregation.

Changing Educational Landscapes Dimitris Mattheou, 2010-04-08 Analyzing educational landscapes, the fundamental values, principles, and institutions of the sector is a highly complex and demanding task for any researcher. Like shifting desert sands, these aspects of education are in a constant state of flux, changing according to the unpredictable economic, social, cultural, and geo-political circumstances of late modernity. Key aspects of the intricate, fluid, and multifarious contemporary setting can always escape the researcher's necessarily selective observation. The contributors to this book share the view that it is wise, therefore, to take note of other people's ideas, perceptions, and perspectives to compare notes and reflect critically on them. Thus, the papers presented here are a critical and comparative analysis of today's changing educational landscapes. They are an exploration of some of the forces and factors that induce these changes and also examine some of their most significant implications. The work takes a fresh look at received ideology and institutional practices and delineates the increasingly internationalized educational discourses and policies. Among other things, the book discusses the obsession with quality in education and the alternative perceptions of educational equality, the rising concern about the obstacles to truly multicultural education, and the debate about the epistemological foundations, both of knowledge and knowledge production. Underlying all of the papers in the book is the author's intention to enhance our understanding of educational change in this era of transition and to further our appreciation of its multifaceted expressions across the world.
