Socializing The Young:

Russia's Youth and its Culture Hilary Pilkington,2013-01-11 Since the political whirlwinds of the mid 1980s and the fall of communism in 1991 Russia has undergone dramatic social change much of which has escaped the attention of Western media In her new book Hilary Pilkington applies the methods of cultural studies research to the study of Russian youth She does this by deconstructing the social discourses within which Russian youth has been constructed and by providing an alternative reading of youth cultural activity based on an ethnographic study of Moscow youth culture at the end of the 1980s The book also charts the passage of western youth cultural studies in the twentieth century and suggests some new ways forward in the light of the Russian experience Hilary Pilkington traces the cultural themes of youth culture in the Anglo American tradition and within the Soviet Union before examining the impact of perestroika on the media and its ramifications for the discussion of youth The book ends with a study of young people in Moscow and youth cultural groups the product of field work and interviews in the city     Youth Violence Prevention Terrance Taylor,2016-04-14 Youth violence is a pressing social concern and this book examines several elements of youth violence prevention It offers state of the art research on several different topics including the relationship between bullying offending and victimization the relationship between race and the code of the streets explanation for violent offending and how differences in methodology affect the validity of the multiple marginality theory of gang membership It also examines an understudied population gay gang members as well as providing an analysis of the degree to which risk factors for gang membership and violent offending are sex specific The critical component of this text is the melding of research with practical implications for youth violence prevention specialists As such the book should be useful to both academic and practitioner audiences This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Crime Justice     Socializing the Young Dennis R. Bryson,2002-04-30 The Rockefeller philanthropies and the Macy Foundation launched a series of programs during the 1920s and 1930s aimed at the production and dissemination of knowledge on the rearing and education of the young Thus millions of dollars in foundation funds were put into projects in child study and parent education the reorganization of secondary education child growth and development culture and personality studies and the personality development of young children by the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial the General Education Board the Macy Foundation during the period 1923 to 1941 Informing these projects was a coherent sociopolitical agenda in order to promote a stable pacified social order the foundation projects attempted to foster the formation of friendly sane and sociable personalities who would avoid conflict and other kinds of anti social behavior Thus the micropractices of private life especially child rearing and familial and marital practices were targeted by a sociopolitical scheme oriented toward the reconstruction and pacification of social life The book examines in depth the foundation programs and the deliberations of officers and trustees as they designed and implemented these programs Special attention is payed to the role of Lawrence K Frank in the creation and direction of the foundation programs

Child Development and Socialization Jere E. Brophy, 1977      Identity and African American Men Kenneth Maurice Tyler, 2014-07-16 Kenneth Maurice Tyler identifies and describes the multiple identity components of young African American men using theoretical and empirical literatures from education and the social sciences. Identity and African American Men Exploring the Content of Our Characterization provides a comprehensive research based account of the ideologies and mindsets of many young African American men. The book critically discusses eight identity components that young African American men begin to negotiate during their adolescent years. These identity components include gender, sexual, racial, ethnic, cultural, socioeconomic, athletic, and academic identity. Identity and African American Men makes a unique contribution to the literature by offering a conceptual framework that identifies the multiple identity components possessed by young African American men. Such a framework expands the conversation about African American men and their behaviors by broadening the understanding of who these individuals are, the identities they possess, and how their identity based attitudes and orientations may influence the behaviors exhibited by them.      Parenthood in America Jack C. Westman, 2001 In this outgrowth of a conference called Parenthood in America held at in April 1998 Westman emeritus psychiatry U of Wisconsin Medical School identifies the parent child relationship as the fundamental institution in our society one that fosters a lifelong ability to form and sustain intimate relationships and be a thoughtful moral person. He argues for a shift in thinking toward the use of quality of life rather than material achievement as the central measure of success. The work s 23 articles bring insights from research to bear on the practical aspects of childrearing and on policies that influence the context in which parenting occurs in the home and in the community. Manufacturing Desire Arthur Asa Berger, 2017-07-12 The average person in America watches four hours of television per day and spends the equivalent of nine years of his or her life in front of the television set. If the attention most people devote to popular culture listening to the news, watching soap operas, reading the comics were added up it would reveal that most people spend an enormous amount of time with popular culture which becomes in large measure their culture. Manufacturing Desire is a study of how the mass media broadcast or spread various popular arts further how the media and popular arts play a major role in shaping our everyday lives. The television shows we watch, the movies we see, the radio programs we listen to and all the comic strips we read influence social behavior. They give us ideas about what is good and evil, about how to solve problems and about how we should relate to others. If we understand this says Berger then the way we think about our media influenced culture will be far different than if we see popular culture as mindless entertainment. Berger provides an analysis of the way popular culture and the mass media simultaneously reflect and affect various aspects of American culture and society. He examines commercials, television shows, comics, film, humor and everyday life in terms of what beliefs and values are found in them, what attitudes toward ourselves and our societies are contained in them, how they achieve their effects and what they reflect about present day American culture and society. This book is analysis of the impact mass media have across America cross culturally and internationally Manufacturing Desire will provide the general reader as well as specialists in communication and information sociology and psychology with a better understanding of the effects of mass media and popular culture on contemporary society Young Children, 2001

CEPAL Review, 1986 Socialization of the Young Child Marike W. De Witt, Mariette I. Booysen, 1995-01-01 Rodeo in America Wayne S. Wooden, Gavin Ehringer, 1996 This work celebrates a great national pastime and tradition Taking the reader behind the chutes Wayne Wooden and Gavin Ehringer reveal the essential character of rodeo culture today and show why it retains such a strong hold on the American imagination

Cuttin' Up Court Carney, 2009 Reveals how the new technologies of mass culture the phonograph radio and film played a key role in accelerating the diffusion of jazz as a modernist art form across the nation's racial divide Focuses on four cities New Orleans New York Chicago and Los Angeles to show how each city produced a distinctive style of jazz

Critical Perspectives on Postcolonial African Children's and Young Adult Literature Meena Khorana, 1998-04-08 The past few years mark a growing scholarly interest in African children's literature in the United States Several books have recently been published on the subject and the number of papers on African children's literature presented at conferences or published in scholarly journals also seems to have increased These publications are becoming more and more sophisticated as scholars move away from general country surveys or analyses of publishing conditions and instead analyze literary structures themes and illustrations or apply Marxist feminist or postcolonial theories to interpret literary works The question of an authentic voice in postcolonial African children's literature has emerged as a central concern to those who care about books for African children and young adults Also of importance is the matter of how Africa is presented in literature for children who do not live on that continent The essays in this book either take a postcolonial or revisionist approach to the study of colonial literature or discuss books published after decolonization The introductory essay provides a general analysis of the key issues facing the publication of children's books in postcolonial Africa issues of national identity language appropriate genres and relevant themes to inculcate a nationalistic outlook in children and young adults The chapters that follow are located within this broad framework and are written by expert contributors While these essays reflect the scholarly interests and specialization of each author they also span the entire field of African children's literature The first group of chapters surveys African children's literature from a variety of angles and explores such topics as literacy and the publishing culture in Africa the role and importance of awards Nigerian young adult literature and the relevance of folktales The book then turns to a discussion of books about Africa written by Western authors for Western readers which often project values and perspectives that betray a continuing colonial bias The last part of the book examines more specialized themes and concerns

Sociology Richard T. Schaefer, Robert P. Lamm, 1995 Three basic premises guide this highly successful introductory text first that theory and research must be both comprehensive and clear second that the text must show how sociology is relevant both to the study of society and to students lives and third that sociology can play a valuable role in teaching critical thinking skills To that end this solid well respected text combines a balanced three perspective approach with excellent student oriented examples and distinctive social policy sections in a concise presentation that offers an alternative to full length books Addresses and

Proceedings Western College Association,1964 Children and Teens Afraid to Eat Francie M. Berg,2001 Takes a societal look at the issue of eating disorders and offers ideas on how families and schools can combat the problem Chinese Youth,1987 Youth Sportdirector Guide Rainer Martens,1995 This text is designed to aid sport administrators develop a sound programme philosophy and compatible policies It also contains forms and checklists to help with organizational skills A software supplement is also available to accompany the text allowing the user to produce save and print customized forms

Social Welfare ,2008 Sociology Thomas J. Sullivan,2004 This book celebrates the achievements of Alice Guy Blach 1873 1968 the first woman motion picture director and producer From 1896 to 1907 she created films for Gaumont in Paris In 1907 she moved to the United States and established her own film company Solax From 1914 to 1920 Guy Blach was an independent director for a number of film companies Despite her immensely productive and creative career Guy Blach s indispensable contribution to film history has been overlooked She entered the world of filmmaking at its nascent stage when films were seen primarily as a medium in the service of science or as an adjunct to selling cameras Working with Gaumont cameramen and cameras and the new technical advances for the projection of film she became one of the film pioneers ushering in the new era of motion pictures as a narrative form Written by cinema history experts and curators this handsome volume brings to light a critical new mass of Guy Blach s film oeuvre in an effort to restore her to her rightful place in film history
