

SOCIOLOGICAL THOUGHT

August Comte

Law of Three Stages

The Law of three stages is the corner stone of Auguste Comte's approach. Comte's ideas relating to the law of three stages reveal that man is becoming more and more rational and scientific in his approach by gradually giving up speculations, imagination etc. He has shown that there is a close association between intellectual evolution and social progress. The law of three stages is the three stages of mental and social development. It is the co-ordination of feeling, thought and action in individuals and society. There are three important aspects of our nature. Such as our feelings, our thought and our actions.

Our feelings: The emotions and impulses which prompt us.

Our thought: Which are undertaken in the service of our feelings but also helps to govern them.

Our actions: Which are undertaken in the service of our feelings and thoughts. For the continuity and existence of society there must be some order of institutions, values, beliefs and knowledge which can successfully correlate the feelings, thought and activity of its members. In the history of mankind—during which the social order bringing these elements into relation with each other has been worked out—three types of solution, three stages of development can be distinguished.

According to Comte, each of our leading conceptions-each branch of our knowledge passes successively through different theoretical conditions:

1. The Theological or fictitious,
2. The Metaphysical or abstract,
3. The Scientific or positive.

Comte considered his law of Three stages based upon belief in social evolution to be the most important. There has been an evolution in the human thinking, so that each succeeding stage is superior to and more evolved than the preceding stage. It can hardly be questioned that Comte's law of three stages has a strong mentalist or idealistic bias. He co-related each mental age of mankind with its characteristic accompanying social organisation and type of political dominance. This law appeared in, the year 1822 in his book Positive Philosophy.

The Theological or Fictitious stage:

The theological stage is the first and it characterised the world prior to 1300. Here all theoretical conceptions, whether general or special bear a supernatural impress. At this level of thinking there is a marked lack of logical and orderly thinking. Overall the theological thinking implies belief in super natural power.

This type of thinking is found among the primitive races. In theological stage, all natural phenomena and social events were explained in terms of super natural forces and deities, which ultimately explaining everything as the product of God's will. This stage is dominated by priests and ruled by military men.

Human mind is dominated by sentiments, feelings and emotions. Every phenomenon was believed to be the result of immediate actions of super-natural beings. Explanations take the form of myths concerning spirits and super natural beings.

Man seeks the essential nature of all beings, first and final causes, origins and purposes of all effects and the overriding belief that all things are caused by super natural beings. Theology means discourse in religion. Religion dominates in this state of development. This state is characterised by conquest. The theological—

Sociological Thought M. Francis Abraham, John Henry Morgan, 1989 Encyclopedia of Modern French Thought Christopher John Murray, 2013-01-11 In this wide ranging guide to twentieth century French thought leading scholars offer an authoritative multi disciplinary analysis of one of the most distinctive and influential traditions in modern thought. Unlike any other existing work this important work covers not only philosophy but also all the other major disciplines including literary theory sociology linguistics political thought theology and more Histoire Russe, 1996 Rough Dialectics Palmer Talbott Jr., 2022-07-11 This is an exploration in depth of the social theory of the Russian born thinker Pitirim A Sorokin who played a large role in American thought. Sorokin's contributions to theories of culture social change modernity and dialectics are evaluated in this wide ranging study. The book emphasizes the place of values in the comparative study of civilizations. This volume includes a translation by Lawrence T Nichols of Sorokin's essay in Russian on Tolstoy as philosopher as well as a chapter by Nichols on Tolstoy and Sorokin. In this book Palmer Talbott Jr examines his former teacher Sorokin within intellectual educational and cultural contexts. The work will be of especial interest to scholars in social philosophy the philosophy of the social sciences philosophy of culture and comparative cultural studies Social Sciences, 1966 Main Currents in Sociological Thought: Montesquieu, Auguste Comte, Karl Marx, Alexis de Tocqueville, the sociologists and the Revolution of 1848 Raymond Aron, 1965 Stalinism and the Politics of Mobilization David Priestland, 2007-02-01 Stalinism and the Politics of Mobilization offers a new interpretation of Bolshevik ideology examines its relationship with Soviet politics between 1917 and 1939 and sheds new light on the origins of the political violence of the late 1930s. While it challenges older views that the Stalinist system and the Terror were the product of a coherent Marxist Leninist blueprint imposed by a group of committed ideologues it argues that ideas mattered in Bolshevik politics and that there are strong continuities between the politics of the revolutionary period and those of the 1930s. By exploring divisions within the party over several issues including class the relations between elites and masses and economic policy David Priestland shows how a number of ideological trends emerged within Bolshevik politics and how they were related to political and economic interests and strategies. He also argues that central to the launching of the Terror was the leadership's commitment to a strategy of mobilization and to a view of politics that ultimately derived from the left Bolshevism of the revolutionary period.

The Bronze Age is the first globalised period with new types of societies and new modes of exchange and trade. In this context there is considerable local variation and diversity.

within the Bronze Age societies of Northern Europe which is poorly understood although there have been advances and changes in this research Therefore this book challenges some of the mainstream opinions on the Bronze Age of Northern Europe and focus on local and regional aspects This is done by a series of articles from significant contributors that deal with these issues on theoretical and empirical levels with regards to differences cultural dualism boundaries regions and regionality in a period of increased globalisation The result is a movement away from local and regional aspects toward communications travels and contacts between northern Europe and the greater world not only towards Central Europe and the Near East but also towards the east Northern Arctic Europe is often left out in these discussions and this book will contribute to this greater picture of the Bronze Age world Main Currents in Sociological Thought Raymond Aron,1974
