become the new and unquestionable orthodoxy in education As a consequence it has become increasingly difficult to imagine let alone articulate an alternative This book explores the origins and fundamental assumptions of scientific management and suggests how the spirit of education might be rediscovered by turning instead to a more ethical socially interpersonal and full bodied orientation The approach taken avoids the difficulties usually associated with such ethically oriented treatments of education by drawing on recent findings in neurophysiology psychology primate and language studies The book is a Reader and is designed to both supplement and invigorate undergraduate and postgraduate courses in education and to appeal to general readers who have an interest in education

Tracts for the people Tracts for the people, 1847 Distracted Jalal Toufic, 1991 The author son of an Iraqi father and a Palestinian mother lived in Lebanon for 17 years this extraordinary fictionalized memoir derives much of its intensity from Toufic's exposure to three of the world's most devastated peoples Viewing life through the eyes of Nietzsche and Kafka he deftly turns sitting in a cafe into an autobiographical narrative blended with philosophy and observations on cinema gleaned from his own experience as a filmmaker The text turns on a metaphoric excavation of an always underway process or state of distraction A state which for Toufic is not so much an attitude or level of concentration as it is an ontological modality Insightful funny erotic at times bizarre Distracted offers an indelible vision of daily life by a man born on the twin currents of art and history
