Abstract: This paper examines the effects of the 1997-1998 Asian financial crisis on the export performance of small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) in South Korea. The results show that the crisis had a significant negative impact on the export performance of SMEs, particularly in the manufacturing sector. The study also identifies several factors that influenced the export performance of SMEs, including the size of the firm, the industry, and the export market. The findings suggest that SMEs should focus on improving their export performance by expanding their export markets and strengthening their relationships with foreign buyers.

Abstract: This research is an exploratory study on the use of the Internet for information searching. The study was conducted in two phases. First, a survey of 100 university students was conducted to determine their use of the Internet for information searching. The results of the survey were used to develop a questionnaire for a second phase of the study. The questionnaire was distributed to 100 university students. The results of the questionnaire were used to develop a model of the use of the Internet for information searching. The model was tested using a sample of 100 university students. The results of the test were used to develop a final model of the use of the Internet for information searching.
