Slave Rebellion In Brazil The Muslim Uprising Of 1835 In Bahia:

Slave Rebellion in Brazil João José Reis, 1995-09 On the night of January 24 1835 hundreds of African Muslim slaves poured into the streets of Salvador capital of the Brazilian province of Bahia to confront soldiers and armed civilians. Nearly 70 slaves were killed. More than 500 were sentenced to death, prison, whipping or deportation. Although the rebel slaves failed to win their freedom, the repercussions of their actions were felt throughout the nation, making this the most important urban slave rebellion in the Americas and the only one in which Islam played a major role. In this history of the 1835 uprising, Joao Jose Reis draws on hundreds of police and trial records in which Africans, despite obvious intimidation, spoke out about their cultural, social, economic, religious and domestic lives in Salvador. Now available in this revised and expanded English edition, Slave Rebellion in Brazil is a portrait of the conditions of urban slavery and an absorbing account of conspiracy, uprising and punishment.

Slave Rebellion in Brazil João José Reis, 1982      Public Memory of Slavery,      Unfree Labour in the Development of the Atlantic World Paul E. Lovejoy, Nicholas Rogers, 2012-12-06 This collection of essays examines the different forms of unfree labour that contributed to the development of the Atlantic world and, by extension, the debates and protests that emerged concerning labour servitude and the abolition of slavery in the West.

Monuments of the Black Atlantic Joanne M. Braxton, 2004 With Aldon Nielson, the editors of this volume agree that the middle passage may be the great repressed signifier of American historical consciousness. The essays collected here illustrate that the repressed memory of crossing lives not only in the academy, in oral traditions and in the stone walls of slave fortresses but in the liturgy as well as the spiritual and religious practices throughout the African Diaspora. Descendants of African slaves living in the wide Diaspora are bearers of an unforgettable strength that endures and endures, manifesting itself in every aspect of culture. Black writers, artists and musicians in the New World have tested the limits of cultural memory, finding in it the inspiration to speak the unspeakable.

Black Crescent Michael A. Gomez, 2005-03-21 Beginning with Latin America in the fifteenth century, this book (first published in 2005) is a social history of the experiences of African Muslims and their descendants throughout the Americas, including the Caribbean. The record under slavery is examined as is the post-slavery period into the twentieth century. The experiences vary, arguably due to some extent to the Old World context. Muslim revolts in Brazil are also discussed, especially in 1835, by way of a nuanced analysis. The second part of the book looks at the emergence of Islam among the African descendants in the United States in the twentieth century, with successive chapters on Noble Drew Ali, Elijah Muhammad and Malcolm X, with a view to explaining how orthodoxy arose from varied unorthodox roots.

The Abolition of Slavery in Brazil David Baronov, 2000-06-30 The persistence of a raced-based division of labor has been a compelling reality in all former slave societies in the Americas. One can trace this to nineteenth century abolition movements across the Americas, which did not lead to and were not intended to result in a transition from race-based slave labor to race-neutral wage labor for former slaves. Rather, the abolition of slavery led to the emergence of multi-racial societies, wherein capital labor relations were characterized by new forms of extra market coercion that were explicitly linked to racial categories Post slavery Brazilian society is a classic example of this pattern Working within the context of the origin of the wage labor category in classical political economy Baronov begins by questioning the central role of wage labor within capitalist production through an examination of key works by Smith Ricardo and Marx as well as the historical conditions informing their analyses The study then turns to the specific case of Brazil between 1850 1888 comparing the abolition of slavery in three Brazilian regions the northeast sugar region the Paraiba Valley and Western Sao Paulo Through this analysis Baronov provides a critique of the dominant interpretation of abolition as a transition from slave labor to wage labor and suggests an alternative interpretation that places a greater emphasis on the role of non wage labor forms and extra market factors in the shaping of the post slavery social order
