Slingshot Warbirds:

Slingshot Warbirds William Neufeld,2003-02-10 A unique and little known chapter in World War II naval aviation history concerns the exploits of the scout observation pilots who flew from the battleships and cruisers of the U S Navy To carry out their missions they were launched from their ships by catapult On returning their float equipped aircraft landed on the water and the plane and crew were crane hoisted aboard the vessel In compiling this work the author culled from the naval archives many of the ships action reports and war diaries that detail the accounts of these airmen In addition he meticulously edited the personal records of 27 veteran airmen who related stories of intense and excruciatingly difficult missions Air Force Magazine ,2003

Catapult Aircraft Leo Marriott,2006-09-21 A concise history of this specialty aircraft used during World Wars I and II During World War I the navies of the opposing forces discovered the value of aerial reconnaissance and many experiments were made to allow larger warships to carry one or sometimes two aircraft aboard In the early days these were float planes that were lowered by crane into the sea and then lifted back aboard upon their return This was a lengthy affair and when a speedy departure was necessary time was of the essence A new system was devised so that a powerful catapult system and a short ramp could with the added speed of the ship get an aircraft airborne in a fraction of the time previously required Thus was born a highly specialised type of aircraft This book includes all the major designs that went to war in the First and Second World Wars and includes aircraft used by all the combatants It looks at how the aircraft evolved and how the warships were modified to accommodate the aircraft and the catapult system The use of these fixed wing aircraft was abandoned when the invention of the helicopter was made in the early post WWII years
