David MacKenzie,1998 This story provides information about interwar royal Yugoslavia its collapse and the debate as to whether the Serbian patriotic society or Black Hand was a nationalist organization or a group of traitors This edition begins with the legacy of the Salonika Trail of 1917 Canadian Slavonic Papers ,2001 Serbian Studies ,2002 Serbs and Russians David MacKenzie,1996 Available for the first time in English this is the definitive account of the practice of sexual slavery the Japanese military perpetrated during World War II by the researcher principally responsible for exposing the Japanese government's responsibility for these atrocities The large scale imprisonment and rape of thousands of women who were euphemistically called comfort women by the Japanese military first seized public attention in 1991 when three Korean women filed suit in a Toyko District Court stating that they had been forced into sexual servitude and demanding compensation Since then the comfort stations and their significance have been the subject of ongoing debate and intense activism in Japan much if it inspired by Yoshimi's investigations How large a role did the military and by extension the government play in setting up and administering these camps What type of compensation if any are the victimized women due These issues figure prominently in the current Japanese focus on public memory and arguments about the teaching and writing of history and are central to efforts to transform Japanese ways of remembering the war Yoshimi Yoshiaki provides a wealth of documentation and testimony to prove the existence of some 2 000 centers where as many as 200 000 Korean Filipina Taiwanese Indonesian Burmese Dutch Australian and some Japanese women were restrained for months and forced to engage in sexual activity with Japanese military personnel Many of the women were teenagers some as young as fourteen To date the Japanese government has neither admitted responsibility for creating the comfort station system nor given compensation directly to former comfort women This English edition updates the Japanese edition originally published in 1995 and includes introductions by both the author and the translator placing the story in context for American readers

Nationalism, Globalization, and Orthodoxy Victor Roudometof, 2001-07-30 Roudometof provides an in depth sociological analysis of the birth and historical evolution of nationalism in the Balkans The rise of nationalism in the region is viewed as part of a world historical process of globalization over the last five centuries With the growing contacts between the Ottoman Empire and the Western European system the Eastern Orthodox of the Balkans abandoned the ethnoconfessional system of social organization in favor of secular national identities Prior to 1820 local nationalism was influenced by the Enlightenment though later it came to be developed on an ethnonational basis In the post 1830 Balkans citizenship rights were subordinated to ethnic nationalism according to which membership to a nation is accorded on the basis of church affiliation and ethnicity In the 19th and 20th centuries the discourse of nationhood was institutionalized by the native intelligentsia of the Balkan states In the first half of the 20th century the efforts of Balkan states to achieve national homogenization produced interstate rivalry forced population exchanges and discrimination against minority groups

While the Cold War helped contain some of these problems the post 1989 period has seen a return of these issues to the forefront of the Balkan political agenda Historical Abstracts ,1999 A History of the Balkans, 1804-1945 Stevan K.
