THE SECOND REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE WORLD'S ANIMAL GENETIC RESOURCES FOR FOOD AND AGRICULTURE Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-06-06 Animal genetic resource diversity underpins the supply livestock products and services across a wide range of production environments It promotes resilience and serves as a basis for adapting livestock management to changing conditions It is vital to livelihoods of many of the world's poor people It can contribute to the delivery of ecosystem services such as landscape management and the maintenance of wildlife habitats However it is often undervalued underused and under threat This report updates the global assessment

provided in the first report on The State of the World's Animal Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture published in 2007. It focuses particularly on changes that have occurred during the period since the first report was published. It serves as a basis for a review and potential update of the Global Plan of Action for Animal Genetic Resources which since 2007 has provided an agreed international framework for the management of livestock biodiversity. Drawing on 129 country reports it presents an analysis of the state of livestock diversity, the influence of livestock sector trends on the management of animal genetic resources, the state of capacity to manage animal genetic resources including legal and policy frameworks and the state of the art in tools and methods for characterization, valuation, use, development and conservation. New Scientist, 1987. One World, Many Knowledges Tar Halvorsen, Peter Vale, 2016-05-12. Various forms of academic co-operation criss-cross the modern university system in a bewildering number of ways from the open exchange of ideas and knowledge to the sharing of research results and frank discussions about research challenges. Embedded in these scholarly networks is the question of whether a global template for the management of both higher education and national research organisations is necessary and if so must institutions slavishly follow the high flown language of the global knowledge society or risk falling behind in the ubiquitous university ranking system. Or are there alternatives that can achieve a better more ethically inclined world. Basing their observations on their own experiences an interesting mix of seasoned scholars and new voices from southern Africa and the Nordic region offer critical perspectives on issues of inter and cross regional academic co-operation. Several of the chapters also touch on the evolution of the higher education sector in the two regions. An absorbing and intelligent study this book will be invaluable for anyone interested in the strategies scholars are using to adapt to the interconnectedness of the modern world. It offers fresh insights into how academics are attempting to protect the spaces in which they can freely and openly debate the challenges they face while aiming to transform higher education and foster scholarly collaboration. The Southern African Nordic Centre SANORD is a partnership of higher education institutions from Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Botswana, Namibia, Malawi, South Africa, Zambia and Zimbabwe. SANORD's primary aim is to promote multilateral research co-operation on matters of importance to the development of both regions. Our activities are based on the values of democracy, equity and mutually beneficial academic engagement. Debates South Africa. Parliament. House of Assembly, 1985.
