Crime and Local Television News Jeremy H. Lipschultz, Michael L. Hilt, 2014-04-04 This volume offers an analysis of crime coverage on local television exploring the nature of local television news and the ongoing appeal of crime stories Drawing on the perspectives of media studies psychology sociology and criminology authors Jeremy H Lipschultz and Michael L Hilt focus on live local television coverage of crime and examine its irresistibility to viewers and its impact on society's perceptions of itself They place local television news in its theoretical and historical contexts and consider it through the lens of legal ethical racial aging and technological concerns In its comprehensive examination of how local television newsrooms around the country address coverage of crime this compelling work discusses such controversial issues as the use of crime coverage to build ratings and considers new models for reform of local TV newscasts The volume includes national survey data from news managers and content analyses from late night newscasts in a range of markets and integrates the theory and practice of local television news into the discussion Lipschultz and Hilt also project the future of local television news and predict the impact of social and technological changes on news As a provocative look at the factors and forces shaping local news and crime coverage Crime and Local Television News makes an important contribution to the discussions taking place in broadcast journalism mass communication media and society and theory and research courses It will also interest all who consider the impact of local news content and coverage

Terrestrial TV News in Britain Jackie Harrison, 2000-09-02 Harrison's work is timely given the assaults on public broadcasting and the challenges confronting terrestrial television news production and output in the late 20th century

The Origins of Television News in America Mike Conway, 2009 This is the first in depth look at the development of the television newscast the most popular source of news for over forty five years During the 1940s most journalists ignored or dismissed television leaving the challenge to a small group of people working above New York City's Grand Central Terminal Without the pressures of ratings sponsors company oversight or many viewers the group refused to recreate newspapers radio or newsreels on the new medium They experimented argued tested and eventually settled on a format to exploit television's strengths This book documents that process challenging common myths including the importance of a popular anchor and television's inability to communicate non visual stories and crediting those whose work was critical in the formation of television as a news format and illustrating the pressures and professional roadblocks facing those who dare question journalistic traditions of any era Publisher

The Cognitive Impact of Television News B. Gunter, 2015-02-17 Research shows that while people around the world consistently nominate television as their most important news source much of the content of news bulletins is lost to viewers within moments In response Barrie Gunter argues that this can be explained by the way in which televised news is written packaged and presented

Radio Television News Directors Association V. United States of America, 1967 Television in Black-and-white America Alan Nadel, 2005 La couverture indigne Alan Nadel's new book reminds us that most of the images on early TV were decidedly Caucasian and directed at predominantly white audiences Television did not invent whiteness for America but it did reinforce it as the norm particularly during the Cold War years Nadel now shows just how instrumental it was in constructing a narrow conservative and very white vision of America During this era prime time TV was dominated by adult Westerns with heroes like The Rebel's Johnny Yuma reincarnating Southern values and Bonanza's Cartwright family reinforcing the notion of white patriarchy programs that Nadel shows bristled with Cold War messages even as they spoke to the nation's mythology America had become visually reconfigured as a vast Ponderosa crisscrossed by concrete highways designed to carry suburban white drivers beyond the moral challenge of racism racial poverty and increasingly vocal civil rights demands
