The Development Of The Marxian Dialectic:

The Development of the Marxian Dialectic Dick Howard, 1972 Beginning as a philosopher Marx turned in the space of a few short years to the study of political economy and to revolutionary practice Howard argues that this shift can be understood only in terms of an analysis of the theoretical development of the Marxian dialectic In explicating the systematic aspects of Marx's theory Howard has gone anew to the primary sources the writings of Marx himself and those of Hegel and the Young Hegelians Howard thus provides a close textual study of Marx's developing theory and method as it emerges in his confrontation with the Hegelian dialectic This systematic study is more than a commentary insofar as it concentrates on the development of a critical theory dialectically founded whose implications affect our perception of contemporary problems and our ability to affect social change today The interpretation is not orthodox and is intended to spur both students and teachers to a rethinking of both theory and practice

Dialectics as Mode of Thought and Method in History Manolis Dafermos, 2025-11-24 This book provides a thorough and panoramic exploration of dialectics presenting it as both a mode of thought and a method of inquiry deeply embedded in the history of human thought Rather than treating dialectics as a fixed system of abstract principles the book underscores both its dynamic character and its historical development Through careful examination of pivotal moments in dialectics across diverse historical periods and intellectual traditions the book illuminates how dialectics has continually evolved to address the pressing intellectual and social challenges of each era By tracing the historical trajectory of dialectics from its ancient spontaneous forms to its modern expressions the book highlights the significant transformations it has undergone over time The book also addresses the growing crisis in many fields dominated by reductionist and narrowly empirical approaches which have proved inadequate for capturing the complexity and dynamism of developmental processes In response it points to a resurgence of interest in dialectics as a powerful methodological alternative A central claim of the book is that the full potential of dialectics remains largely unrealised Far from being an obsolete relic of the past dialectics emerges as an essential method particularly for the study of complex dynamic systems Ultimately the book reconstructs the historical trajectory of dialectics and advocates its vital role in confronting the epistemological and methodological challenges of contemporary inquiry in an ever changing world

Dialectical Materialism and Historical Dialectics of Karl Marx Mbogo Wa Wambui, 2020-06-17 Research Paper undergraduate from the year 2011 in the subject Philosophy Philosophy of the 19th Century grade A University of Nairobi language English abstract This paper seeks to explain Karl Marx's dialectical materialism and historical dialectics The stimulus of the work of Marx was the hope of a social revolution in his lifetime or in the future Unlike British classical economists who aimed at the welfare of the capitalists Marx worked to represent the interest of the wage earner This is best represented in the Communist Manifesto of 1848 Marx called himself a materialist though under Hegelian influence In 1843 he went to France to study socialism There he met Engels the manager of a factory in Manchester From him he came to know of English labour conditions and English economics After taking part in the French and German revolutions of 1848 he sought refuge in England in 1849 from where he wrote and amassed knowledge

God and History Laurence W. Wood, 2005 This book argues for an integrative dialectic of faith and history It is a fresh examination of the problem of faith and history Instead of being a mere liability it is argued here that the strength of the Christian faith is its historicity Although modern thought was not always friendly to Christian faith because of its deeply embedded dualism it raised the critical intellectual issues that Christian theology needed to address Advancing a more critical understanding of the nature of history than modern thought was generally able to achieve because of its dualistic thinking this work argues for an integrative dialectic of historical probability and the certainty of faith This book gives a comprehensive and fascinating account of the development of the idea of history in correspondence to changing conceptions of the divine reality from its origin in Ancient Israel and in Greece all the way to the contemporary discussion It focuses on the rise of critical historical investigation in modern times and on the struggle of modern theology to come to terms with it It is an important contribution to this discussion The split between fact and meaning is persuasively identified as a main obstacle and it is shown to be overcome in the reconstruction of history in the light of the eschatological future Also very helpful is the final chapter on time space time and eternity with its emphasis on Boethius and with its critical remarks on nontrinitarian theistic notions of a personal God

A ALEKSANDR BOGDANOV On April 7 1928 the career of one of the most extraordinary figures of Russian and early Soviet intellectual life came to an abrupt and premature end In the process of an experiment on blood transfusion Aleksandr Aleksandrovich Malinovsky better known as Bogdanov had exchanged his blood with that of a critically ill malaria victim in hopes of saving both the patient and his blood The outcome of this may be guessed both doctor and patient died forthwith Although an extraordinary venture on Bogdanov's part for it was part of a search for the means to immortality 2 the transfusion experiment was only one of a host of startling things he had done in his thirty years in Russian politics and public life In actuality the activities and achievement of his two years as director of the Soviet Union's first institute for the study of blood transfusion seem virtually insignificant beside the events of earlier years 3 It would be fair to say that Aleksandr Bogdanov stood in a singularly prominent position in the political and intellectual life of Russia from the turn of the century to 1930 Politically he had been Lenin's only serious rival for leadership among the Bolsheviks before 1917 In the early years of the Soviet regime Bogdanov stood head and shoulders above any other public figure operating outside the ranks of the Party Only a handful of men i e

Emergentist Marxism Sean Creaven, 2013-04-15 In tackling emergentist Marxism in depth this well written volume demonstrates that critical realism and materialist dialectics are indispensable to theorizing the functioning of complex social and physical systems Author Sean Creaven investigates Marx's dialectics of being and consciousness forces and relations of production base and superstructure class structure and class conflict and demonstrates how they allow the social analyst to conceptualize geo history as embodying a tendential evolutionary directionality rather than as simply random or indeterminate in terms of its outcomes For those interested in social and political theory Marxism and communism and contemporary social theory this outstanding volume is an important read and a valuable resource Karl Marx and the Intellectual Origins of Dialectical Materialism J. White,1996-10-25 The book provides a genealogy of dialectical materialism by tracing the development of Marxist ideas from their origins in German philosophical thought to the ideology of the social democratic groups in Russia in the 1890s from which Lenin and the revolutionary generation emerged It reconstructs Marx's original conceptions and examines the modifications that were made to them by himself and by his Russian followers which eventually gave rise to the doctrine of dialectical materialism first expounded by Plekhanov The Development of the Welfare State in the Western World Thomas Katsaros,1995-03-28 Marxism and Alienation Nicholas Churchich,1990 An exposition and critique of the views of Marx and Marxists in which Marx's views are compared with other views and are explored in terms of theories causes and the transcendence of alienation self alienation and self realization and economic religious philosophic scientific social and political alienation The Evolution of Dialectical Materialism Zbigniew A.
