

Development of Underdevelopment or Underdevelopment of Development in China

ANDRE GUNDER FRANK
University of East Anglia

These comments are not by a China specialist but come from someone who has been concerned with world capitalist development and the development of underdevelopment within it. In the comments that follow, therefore, the evaluation of the content of Lippit's argument about China will largely be left to the China specialists; while here we will concentrate on the construction of the argument about the development of underdevelopment. To begin with, we may question whether the title Mr. Lippit chooses for his essay is even appropriate for the argument he constructs.

Mr. Lippit does well in examining the theses that are "more obscurantist than explanatory" (as he terms one of them, though the same term applies equally to the others), and he does more than well to reject them on grounds of their lack of scientific foundation. In their universal versions (and also their applications to other case studies) the Rostowian stage theory beginning with "traditional" society, the Parsonian (pseudo-Weberian) theory of pattern variables including family structure and culture, the Leibensteinian low- and Schultzian high-level equilibrium trap theory, and the Nurskian-Myrdalian vicious circles have all long since shown to be a-, indeed anti-, historical and therein already scientifically unacceptable as vehicles for the explanation of any social process and development (and non- or under-

The Development Of Underdevelopment In China Asymposium:

The Development of Underdevelopment in China Philip C. Huang, 1980 Originally published in Modern China vol 4 no 3 July 1978 and vol 6 no 1 January 1980 Late Victorian Holocausts Mike Davis, 2002-06-17 Examining a series of El Nio induced droughts and the famines that they spawned around the globe in the last third of the 19th century Mike Davis discloses the intimate baleful relationship between imperial arrogance and natural incident that combined to produce some of the worst tragedies in human history Late Victorian Holocausts focuses on three zones of drought and subsequent famine India Northern China and Northeastern Brazil All were affected by the same global climatic factors that caused massive crop failures and all experienced brutal famines that decimated local populations But the effects of drought were magnified in each case because of singularly destructive policies promulgated by different ruling elites Davis argues that the seeds of underdevelopment in what later became known as the Third World were sown in this era of High Imperialism as the price for capitalist modernization was paid in the currency of millions of peasants lives

Imperialism and the Anti-Imperialist Mind Lewis Samuel Feuer, 1989-01-01 In this major work Lewis S Feuer examines critical distinctions between progressive and regressive imperialism He explores causes of anti imperial ideologies noting that unlike the spoliation that took place under regressive tartar Spanish and Nazi colonizations civilization flourished during the progressive imperialism of Hellenic Macedonian Roman and modern British eras of empire building Feuer holds that it is erroneous to blame the relative backwardness of colonial peoples on the imperialism of Western democratic nations In case after case the character of colonial rulers determined economic development and democratic reform alike Pursuing the theme of progress versus regression Feuer compares the imperialism of the United States with that of the Soviet Union to the detriment of the latter in nearly every instance His effort constitutes nothing short of a fundamentally new perspective on the lessons of modern history and the mistakes of modern analysts of international affairs Feuer opens as well a new chapter in political psychology with his study of such anti imperialist intellectuals as Hobson Morel and Leonard Woolf his portrait of Emin Pasha the heroic Jewish governor of Equatorial Sudan suggests a living model for Conrad's Lord Jim
