Telecommunications In Developing Countries The Challenge From Brazil:

Telecommunications in Developing Countries Michael Hobday, 2023-12-22 Telecommunications in Developing Countries 1990 stresses the importance of modern micro electronics based telecommunications for developing economies in providing a basic communications infrastructure for economic and industrial development and the springboard for new information technology activities Although progress in telecommunications has so far been concentrated in the most advanced regions of the world some developing countries can bypass older less efficient forms of telecommunications and go straight to microelectronic technology This book is the first to examine the challenges and difficulties facing developing countries in this field extending existing theories of technology transfer and diffusion Michael Hobday offers an explanation of the forces for change in the telecommunications industry He then examines Brazil s experience in telecommunications from developing the technology and building up a modern infrastructure to controlling multinational suppliers of equipment Dr Hobday explains why Brazil s efforts in this area have succeeded and offers lessons for other developing countries

Telecommunications in Latin America Eli M. Noam, 1998 Bringing together experts on Latin American countries and providing a comprehensive view of what individual countries are doing to build a telecommunications capability Telecommunications in Latin America addresses the complicated economic and policy issues of each country s telecommunications The editor and his staff have skillfully integrated the chapters into a coherent volume keeping the information accessible to non specialists Particular attention is paid to telecommunications as a link in the chain of the regional development process and to the privatization process that has swept across the subcontinent This study will be of interest to students and professionals in the areas of communication international telecommunications companies and country governments in Latin America Development Centre Studies Competition, Innovation and Competitiveness in Developing Countries Krieger Mytelka Lynn, 1999-08-26 This book therefore opens a fresh debate on the industrial policies which developing countries need to adopt in order to compete and grow in a globalised economic environment

Technology and Innovation in the International Economy Charles Cooper, 1994 The two major review essays Jeffrey James on microelectronic technology and Martin Fransman on biotechnology assess the impact of these new technologies on production trade employment and welfare in developing countries New Directions in Telecommunications Policy:

Information policy and economic policy Paula R. Newberg, 1989 Telecommunication Industry in Brazil Maria Ines Bastos, 1995 New Directions in Telecommunications Policy: Regulatory policy, telephony and mass media Paula R. Newberg, 1989 Competition, Innovation and Competitiveness in Developing Countries Lynn Krieger

Mytelka, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development. Development Centre, 1999 Annotation In developing countries and emerging economies traditional industrial practices can be linked to policy changes which foster innovation but can equally result in stagnation if the policy practice mix is wrong These case studies from Brazil Chinese Taipei India and Korea demonstrate that where industrial habits tend to reduce competitiveness policies can make a difference The book opens a fresh debate on the industrial policies developing countries need to adopt to compete and grow in a globalized economic environment

Privatization and Competition in Telecommunications Daniel Ryan,1997-03-25 Comprises a collection of essays dealing with the process of privatization of telecommunications in Asia Europe and Latin America Examines through case studies how countries respond to the new economic environment Telecommunications in Western Asia and the Middle East Eli M. Noam,1997 Bringing together experts on West Asian and Middle Eastern countries and providing a comprehensive view of what individual countries are doing to build a telecommunications capability Telecommunications in West Asia addresses the complicated economic and policy issues of each country s telecommunications sector The editor and his staff have skillfully integrated the contributors chapters into a coherent volume keeping the information accessible to nonspecialists Particular attention is paid to telecommunications as a link in the chain of the regional development process This study will be of interest to students and professionals in the areas of communications international telecommunications companies and country governments in Western Asia

Brazil John P. Dickenson,1997 Brazil is a huge country which occupies half a continent and contains major rivers rich mineral resources and a large segment of tropical forest It has been a colony an Empire and a democratic and dictatorial republic The country has experienced rapid economic development this century but still retains an active agricultural frontier Brazil is experiencing rapid urbanization but the elegant apartment blocks stand in sharp contrast to the nation s shanty towns and its acute rural poverty The Brazilian population includes Amerindians descendants of African slaves and immigrants from Portugal and other parts of Europe This work is a fully revised and updated edition of the 1985 original volume

Current Bibliographical Information Dag Hammarskjöld Library,1991

The Crossed Line Dave Kaplan,1990 The South African telecommunications industry is at a crucial stage in its technological development facing choices that will have long term effects on private consumers and large scale industry alike In The crossed line David Kaplan examines the development of the telecommunications industry in South Africa and sometimes controversially discusses the problems that have beset it In analyzing the factors which will determine its future structure and operations he turns to comparative studies of the industry in a number of countries The book provides a critique of the public communications network administered by the South African Post Office It also explains the workings of the local industry which supplies equipment to the telecommunications network Kaplan substantiates his text with data tables and many interviews The information he provides is pertinent and detailed enough to remain valuable for reference purposes Global Sustainability, Telecommunications and Science and Technology Policy Seán O'Siochrú,1993
