Television Audience:

Television and Its Audience Patrick Barwise, Andrew Ehrenberg, 1988-11-24 This book by two leading experts takes a fresh look at the nature of television starting from an audience perspective. It draws on over twenty years of research about the audience in the United States and Britain and about the many ways in which television is funded and organized around the world. The overall picture which emerges is of a medium which is watched for several hours a day but usually at only a low level of involvement: an audience which views mainly for relaxation but which actively chooses favourite programmes, a flowering of new channels but with no fundamental change in what or how people watch programmes costing millions to produce but only a few pennies to view a wide range of programme types apparently similar to the range of print media but with nothing like the same degree of audience segmentation, a global communication medium of dazzling scale, speed and impact but which is slow at conveying complex information and perhaps less powerful than generally assumed. The book is packed with information and insights yet is highly readable. It is unique in relating so many of the issues raised by television to how we watch it. There is also a highly regarded appendix on advertising as well as technical notes, a glossary and references for further reading.

Desperately Seeking the Audience Ien Ang, 2006-06-28 Millions of people all over the world are avid members of the television audience. Yet despite the central place television occupies in contemporary culture, our understanding of its complex and dynamic role in everyday life remains surprisingly limited. Focusing on the television audience, Ien Ang asks why we understand so little about its nature and argues that our ignorance arises directly out of the biases inherent in prevailing official knowledge about it. She sets out to deconstruct the assumptions of this official knowledge by exploring the territory where it is mainly produced: the television institutions. Ang draws on Foucault's theory of power/knowledge to scrutinize television's desperate search for the audience and to identify differences and similarities in the approaches of American commercial television and European public service television to their audiences. She looks carefully at recent developments in the field of ratings research, in particular the controversial introduction of the people meter as an instrument for measuring the television audience. By defining the limits and limitations of these institutional procedures of knowledge production, Ien Ang opens up new avenues for understanding television audiences. Her ethnographic perspective on the television audience gives new insights into our television culture with the audience seen not as an object to be controlled but as an active social subject engaging with television in a variety of cultural and creative ways.

Television in Black-and-white America Alan Nadel, 2005 La couverture indique Alan Nadel's new book reminds us that most of the images on early TV were decidedly Caucasian and directed at predominantly white audiences. Television did not invent whiteness for America but it did reinforce it as the norm particularly during the Cold War years. Nadel now shows just how instrumental it was in constructing a narrow conservative and very white vision of America During this era prime time TV was dominated by adult Westerns with heroes like The Rebel s Johnny Yuma reincarnating Southern values and Bonanza s Cartwright family reinforcing the notion of white patriarchy programs that Nadel shows bristled with Cold War messages even as they spoke to the nation s mythology America had become visually reconfigured as a vast Ponderosa crisscrossed by concrete highways designed to carry suburban white drivers beyond the moral challenge of racism racial poverty and increasingly vocal civil rights demands Television Quarterly ,1987 Drawing the Line at the Big Ditch Adam Clymer,2008 In this remarkable and revealing tale noted journalist Clymer shows how the decision to give up the Panama Canal stirred emotions already rubbed raw by the loss of the Vietnam War and shaped American politics for years

Presidential Travel Richard J. Ellis,2008 The first full length examination of presidential travel and its role in transforming the image and identity of the presidency from first citizen to political celebrity Colorful anecdotes and acute analysis combine to provide a fresh look at the importance of travel in shaping the imperial presidency Indians in Unexpected Places Philip Joseph Deloria,2004 Despite the passage of time our vision of Native Americans remains locked up within powerful stereotypes That s why some images of Indians can be so unexpected and disorienting What is Geronimo doing sitting in a Cadillac Why is an Indian woman in beaded buckskin sitting under a salon hairdryer Such images startle and challenge our outdated visions even as the latter continue to dominate relations between Native and non Native Americans Philip Deloria explores this cultural discordance to show how stereotypes and Indian experiences have competed for ascendancy in the wake of the military conquest of Native America and the nation s subsequent embrace of Native authenticity Rewriting the story of the national encounter with modernity Deloria provides revealing accounts of Indians doing unexpected things singing opera driving cars acting in Hollywood in ways that suggest new directions for American Indian history Focusing on the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries a time when according to most standard American narratives Indian people almost dropped out of history itself Deloria argues that a great many Indians engaged the very same forces of modernization that were leading non Indians to reevaluate their own understandings of themselves and their society He examines longstanding stereotypes of Indians as invariably violent suggesting that even as such views continued in American popular culture they were also transformed by the violence at Wounded Knee He tells how Indians came to represent themselves in Wild West shows and Hollywood films and also examines sports music and even Indian people s use of the automobile an ironic counterpoint to today s highways teeming with Dakota pick ups and Cherokee sport utility vehicles Throughout Deloria shows us anomalies that resist pigeonholing and force us to rethink familiar expectations Whether considering the Hollywood films of James Young Deer or the Hall of Fame baseball career of pitcher Charles Albert Bender he persuasively demonstrates that a significant number of Indian people engaged in modernity and helped shape its anxieties and its textures at the very moment they were being defined as primitive These secret histories Deloria suggests compel us to reconsider our own current expectations about what Indian people should be how they should act and even what they should look like More important he shows how such seemingly harmless even if unconscious expectations contribute to the racism and injustice that still haunt the experience of many Native American people today The Vietnam War Files Jeffrey P. Kimball,2004 The new evidence uncovers a number of behind the scenes plays such as Nixon s secret nuclear alert of October 1969 and sheds more light on Nixon s goals in Vietnam and his and Kissinger s strategies of Vietnamization the China card and triangular diplomacy The excerpted documents also reveal significant new information about the purposes of the linebacker bombings Nixon s manipulation of the pow issue and the conduct of the secret negotiations in Paris as well as other key topics events and issues All of these are effectively framed by Kimball whose introductions to each document provide historical context Advising Ike Herbert Brownell,John P. Burke,1993 In this enlightening volume Brownell the man Dwight D Eisenhower said would make an outstanding president recounts his achievements and trials as the GOP s most successful presidential operative of the 1940s and 50s and as Attorney General at a crucial time in American history Political science professor an coauthor Burke is the author of The Institutional Presidency 26 photographs It's Our Day Katherine Jellison,2008 Offers a detailed cultural history of weddings in America from 1945 to 2000 exploring the political social economic and demographic events that influenced the traditions and cost associated with weddings in the post war years Projecting Paranoia Ray Pratt,2001 A wide ranging and idiosyncratic look at sixty years of politics and film that uncovers how American movies have mirrored and even challenged anxieties and paranoid perceptions embedded in American society since the start of the Cold War The first book to take a sweeping look at 60 years of film and analyze them thematically Atkinson's Evening Post and Philadelphia Saturday News ,1957-09 The Marine News ,1955 Radio Daily-television Daily ,1957 National Regulation of Inter-state Commerce ... Charles Carroll Bonney,1882 Pursuing the American Dream Calvin C. Jillson,2004 Marked by continuity renewal and expansion the image of the Dream Jillson contends has been remarkably constant since well before the American Revolution an image of a nation offering a better chance for prosperity than any other His book reveals how that Dream has motivated our nation s leaders and common citizens to move sometimes grudgingly toward a more open diverse and genuinely competitive society
