The Days Of Eternity:

The Liturgical Year: The time after Pentecost, v. 1. 1879 Prosper Guéranger,1879    The Dome of Eden Stephen H. Webb,2010-01-01 What would biology look like if it took the problem of natural evil seriously This book argues that biological descriptions of evolution are inherently moral just as the biblical story of creation has biological implications A complete account of evolution will therefore require theological input The Dome of Eden does not try to harmonize evolution and creation Harmonizers typically begin with Darwinism and then try to add just enough religion to make evolution more palatable or they begin with Genesis and pry open the creation account just wide enough to let in a little bit of evolution By contrast Stephen Webb provides a theory of how evolution and theology fit together and he argues that this kind of theory is required by the internal demands of both theology and biology The Dome of Eden also develops a theological account of evolution that is distinct from the intelligent design movement Webb shows how intelligent design properly discerns the inescapable dimension of purpose in nature but like Darwinism itself fails to make sense of the problem of natural evil Finally this book draws on the work of Karl Barth to advance a new reading of the Genesis narrative and the theology of Duns Scotus to provide the necessary metaphysical foundation for evolutionary thought

Space, Time and the Limits of Human Understanding Shyam Wuppuluri,Giancarlo Ghirardi,2016-12-01 In this compendium of essays some of the world's leading thinkers discuss their conceptions of space and time as viewed through the lens of their own discipline. With an epilogue on the limits of human understanding this volume hosts contributions from six or more diverse fields. It presumes only rudimentary background knowledge on the part of the reader. Time and again through the prism of intellect humans have tried to diffract reality into various distinct yet seamless atomic yet holistic independent yet interrelated disciplines and have attempted to study it contextually. Philosophers debate the paradoxes or engage in meditations dialogues and reflections on the content and nature of space and time. Physicists too have been trying to mold space and time to fit their notions concerning micro and macro worlds. Mathematicians focus on the abstract aspects of space time and measurement. While cognitive scientists ponder over the perceptual and experiential facets of our consciousness of space and time computer scientists theoretically and practically try to optimize the space time complexities in storing and retrieving data information. The list is never ending. Linguists logicians artists evolutionary biologists geographers etc all are trying to weave a web of understanding around the same duo. However our endeavour into a world of such endless imagination is restrained by intellectual dilemmas such as Can humans comprehend everything Are there any limits Can finite thought fathom infinity. We have sought far and wide among the best minds to furnish articles that provide an overview of the above topics. We hope that through this journey a symphony of patterns and tapestry of intuitions will emerge providing the reader with insights into the questions What is Space What is Time.
