The Deadly Prey Ralph Hayes, 1975      Carnivoran Ecology Steven W. Buskirk, 2023-04-17 These charismatic mammals which include dogs cats hyenas weasels mongooses seals sea lions and bears have always held special importance to humans throughout history and continue to do so today In recent decades the emergence of new technologies has completely transformed our knowledge of how carnivorans interact with their environments and consequently reshaped our view of carnivoran ecology This unique synthesis uses examples from a diverse and expanding carnivoran literature drawing from all carnivoran families and spanning the world's oceans and continents to produce a clearly written and richly illustrated book that reviews our current state of knowledge of carnivoran ecology It addresses all levels of biological organization and function from genes to enzymes organisms populations and ecosystems Special attention is given to how carnivoran species interact with their prey each other and humans There is an emphasis on community interactions and their importance in carnivoran evolution showing how evolutionary constraints morphological physiological and behavioral structure communities today The book's approach is strongly comparative contrasting herbivores with carnivores predators with scavengers and cats with dogs Carnivorans play important roles in many high profile conservation cases either as species of concern or agents of endangerment and their importance is demonstrated in both contexts Carnivoran Ecology is an accessible advanced textbook aimed principally at senior undergraduate and graduate students taking courses in carnivore ecology as well as a broad audience of professional academics especially carnivore and mammalian biologists researchers and practitioners working in both governmental and non governmental organizations A significant secondary market will exist amongst the large amateur naturalist community including those wishing to explore the ecological and evolutionary links between domestic carnivorans dogs cats ferrets etc and their wild counterparts      From Ecology to Cancer Biology and Back Again Frederick R. Adler, Sarah R. Amend, Christopher J. Whelan, Etienne Baratchart, 2022-03-08

The Ethology of Predation E. Curio, 2012-12-06 Predation is an ecological factor of almost universal importance for the biologist who aims at an understanding of the habits and structures of animals Despite its pervasive nature opinions differ as to what predation really is So far it has been defined only in negative terms it is thought not to be parasitism the other great process by which one organism harms another nor filter feeding carrion eating or browsing Accordingly one could define predation as a process by which an animal spends some effort to locate a live prey and in addition spends another effort to mutilate or kill it According to this usage of the word a nudibranch for example that feeds on hydroids would be a predator inasmuch as it needs some time to locate colonies of its prey which after being located scarcely demand more than eating which differs little from browsing From the definition just proposed consumption of the prey following its capture has been intentionally omitted Indeed an animal may be disposed of without being eaten Hence the biological significance of predation may be more than to maintain nutritional homeostasis In fact predation may have something in common with the more direct forms of competition a facet that will be only cursorily touched upon in this book
