Social Development In Africa Today

Robert R. Redfield

Social Development In Africa Today:

Social Development in South Africa Ndangwa Noyoo, 2025-10-29 This book interrogates and discusses social development in post apartheid South Africa as both an approach to an overarching development process and an envisaged end state of well being It critically analyses social development in the context of a middle income African country that is still not only shaped and defined in many ways by a corrosive history of colonialism and apartheid but is also still saddled with a plethora of social ills which are by products of the former eras Despite the former governing party's characterisation of South Africa as a Developmental State the country remains one of the most unequal societies in the world The book argues that the vestiges of colonialism and apartheid cannot be addressed solely by economic growth and associated activities but require a multiplicity of social economic and political interventions that should be marshalled by both the state and civil society through a robust comprehensive and transformative social development process that is underpinned by indigenous knowledge systems and forms of care that respond to human needs at the micro and macro levels The book argues that social development is one of the best vehicles that could enable South Africa to decisively deal with the remnants of colonialism and apartheid as well as become a developmental state Furthermore it elucidates how social development should result in among others improvements in human well being social relations and social institutions that are equitable sustainable and compatible with principles of democratic governance and social justice It proffers practical steps on how social development could enable South Africa to become a developmental state Lastly the book shows how social policy and economic policy can be conjoined in South Africa to arrive at a holistic process of social development that will facilitate the building of a developmental state in the country Social Development in Africa Today Stephen Chan, 1991

Working for the Commonwealth Secretariat advising Government Ministries of Social Development and Youth Development on policy and programme strategies to deal with youth unemployment and training field staff from 1980-1985 Stephen Chan grew disillusioned with the planning orthodoxies of government ministries and international agencies alike These essays collected here for the first time present a spirited rejection of development orthodoxies while remaining thoughtful contributions to the development debate The text is in two basic parts one to do with youth and social development the other with the more general question of development aid which forms a context for any social development Africa's Social and Religious Quest Randee Ijatuyi-Morphé, 2014-01-30 This well crafted book probes the key dimensions of Africa's existential predicament It constitutes an intellectual response to a gnawing African situation the starting point for grasping Africa's social and religious quest Beyond split explanations of external versus internal factors e.g. colonization slavery vs leadership cultural values this study accounts more comprehensively for emergent issues shaping this situation The situation reflects a gamut of problems in traditional African religion and material culture which hitherto defines African communality politics and destinies vis vis the cosmos and nature Thus African religion and communities each with its own attendant values do not operate by critical engagement with larger issues of society and civilization especially those shaped by the advent of post modernity Rather they operate via adaptation The communal drive for natural and social harmony inevitably produces a preservationist view of culture leaving things as they are This study takes an integrative approach to religion society and civilization eschews dichotomies and broadly defines and re signifies life and wholeness as a true end of Africans quest today

African Political and Economic Philosophy with Africapitalism Ephraim-Stephen Essien, Frank Aragbonfoh

Abumere, 2024-03-06 This book creates on the one hand and explores on the other hand philosophies of African development suitable for Black sub Saharan African countries As an academic discipline focused on thought informed by indigenous moral values among Black peoples in the sub Saharan region African political philosophy involves philosophizing normatively about government by traditional Black African people with the aim of advancing a better African society African political philosophy does not mean that its themes views concepts and approaches are exclusively African It also does not mean that only thinkers in Africa could hold these concepts nor does it mean that all African thinkers hold the same views African is used geographically in African political philosophy to demarcate certain perspectives that are unique to sub Saharan African thought and practice that tend not to be the case elsewhere An African political and economic philosophy should address the origin and method of political power the guarantee of human and civil liberties and how economic goods are generated and distributed in African societies Africapitalism as a new economic philosophy obviates the inadequacies in Afrisocialism and offers an option for an African economic philosophy Edited by Ephraim Stephen Essien and Frank Aragbonfoh Abumere the contributors to African Political and Economic Philosophy with Africapitalism Concepts for African Leadership ask the question can a neo Afrisocialism offer anything good for the Africa

of economic and human development Are inequalities increasing and is this the denouncement of the economic successes The Handbook of BRICS and Emerging Economies presents a comprehensive and multi faceted analysis of the BRICS countries and other emerging economies exploring their economic social environmental and governance dimensions and other challenges It brings together multi disciplinary perspectives from more than fifty authors to examine how education contributed to the emergence of BRICS how BRICS are impacting African economies and how other emerging economies including Chile Mexico Turkey and others in Africa and Central Asia compare It observes the impact of governance challenges both within individual countries and in the forum for co operation amongst them what issues related to gender and identity based violence are prevalent and what the security implications are and the role of BRICS is in contributing to peace keeping operations
