Social Learning and Social Structure Ronald L. Akers, 2011-12-31 The social learning theory of crime integrates Edwin H Sutherland s differential association theory with behavioral learning theory It is a widely accepted and applied approaches to criminal and deviant behavior However it is also widely misinterpreted misstated and misapplied This is the first single volume in depth authoritative discussion of the background concepts development modifications and empirical tests of social learning theory Akers begins with a personal account of Sutherland s involvement in criminology and the origins of his influential perspective He then traces the intellectual history of Sutherland s theory as well as social learning theory providing a comprehensive explanation of how each theory approaches illegal behavior Akers reviews research on various correlates and predictors of crime and delinquency that may be used as operational measures of differential association reinforcement and other social learning concepts Akers proposes a new integrated theory of social learning and social structure that links group differences in crime to individual conduct He concludes with a cogent discussion of the implications of social learning theory for criminology and public policy Now available in paperback with a new introduction by the author this volume will be invaluable to professionals and for use in courses in criminology and deviance

Primary Theories of Crime and Victimization James R. Jones Ph.D., 2020-04-08 This text focuses on the history of criminology including the major criminological epochs the most prominent practitioners associated with each and their contentions and contributions to the discipline The earliest epochs which comprise some of the initial concentrations of the text include the Classical School of Criminology Positivist Criminology Sociological Criminology also known by some as the Chicago School Conflict Criminology and Developmental Criminology The manuscript will also concentrate on the ways by which crime is recorded in the United States and the strengths and weaknesses of each method The focal point of this crime recording section of the text are on the Uniform Crime Report UCR National Crime Victimization Survey NCVS and Self Report Surveys The theories of crime and delinquency that are examined are strain theory differential association theory conflict theory social bonding theory rational choice theory social structure theory social disorganization theory cultural deviance theory differential association theory differential reinforcement theory and labeling theory In addition other areas of crime that are explored are gangs and crime victimless crimes causes of violent crime serial killers mass murderers and spree killers sexual assault mental health and crime rural criminology and queer criminology Finally the text concludes with chapters on community police relations and crime theories of victimization crime and punishment using criminological theories to explore crime and crime in the 21st century

Social Learning and Social Structure Ronald Akers, 2017-09-20 The social learning theory of crime integrates

Edwin H Sutherland's differential association theory with behavioral learning theory. It is a widely accepted and applied approach to criminal and deviant behavior. However, it is also widely misinterpreted, misstated, and misapplied. This is the first single volume in depth authoritative discussion of the background, concepts, development, modifications, and empirical tests of social learning theory. Akers begins with a personal account of Sutherland's involvement in criminology and the origins of his influential perspective. He then traces the intellectual history of Sutherland's theory as well as social learning theory, providing a comprehensive explanation of how each theory approaches illegal behavior. Akers reviews research on various correlates and predictors of crime and delinquency that may be used as operational measures of differential association, reinforcement, and other social learning concepts. Akers proposes a new integrated theory of social learning and social structure that links group differences in crime to individual conduct. He concludes with a cogent discussion of the implications of social learning theory for criminology and public policy. Now available in paperback with a new introduction by the author, this volume will be invaluable to professionals and for use in courses in criminology and deviance.

21st Century Criminology: A Reference Handbook J. Mitchell Miller, 2009-08-06. 21st Century Criminology: A Reference Handbook provides straightforward and definitive overviews of 100 key topics comprising traditional criminology and its modern outgrowths. The individual chapters have been designed to serve as a first look reference source for most criminological inquiries. Both connected to the sociological origins of criminology, i.e., theory and research methods and the justice system's response to crime and related social problems, as well as coverage of major crime types, this two-volume set offers a comprehensive overview of the current state of criminology. From student term papers and masters theses to researchers commencing literature reviews, 21st Century Criminology is a ready source from which to quickly access authoritative knowledge on a range of key issues and topics central to contemporary criminology.

Handbook on Crime and Deviance Marvin D. Krohn, Alan J. Lizotte, Gina Penly Hall, 2010-01-15. Social Learning Theories of Crime Christine Sharon Sellers, L. Thomas Winfree (Jr.), Ronald L. Akers, 2012. The readings selected for this volume reveal the historical development of social learning theory from its origins to its further incorporation of social structure as the context within which criminal behavior is learned. The essays emphasize the theory's foundations in both symbolic interactionism and behaviorism and reflect that at its core the theory remains true to its origins in sociology. The theory is also shown to be an explanation of the gamut of deviant behaviors ranging from gang activities to drug use and from coercive sex to terrorism.

Criminology Gennaro F. Vito, Jeffrey R. Maahs, Ronald M. Holmes, 2006. Across America, crime is a consistent public concern. The authors have produced a comprehensive work on major criminological theories, combining classical criminology with new topics such as Internet crime and terrorism. The text also focuses on how criminology shapes public policy.

Violence Margaret A. Zahn, Henry H. Brownstein, Shelly L. Jackson, 2014-09-25. Brings together theoretical and empirical papers prepared by noted researchers and theoreticians. The first part includes chapters by criminological theorists who apply their theory of crime particularly to violence The second part contains chapters by researchers who look at the substantive area of their expertise through the lens of theories of violence Each chapter is original and was written specifically for this book

The Assessment and Treatment of Women Offenders Kelley Blanchette, Shelley L. Brown, 2006-08-07 There is a large body of research that provides guidance for those working with offenders on how they should be treated once they are in the correctional system The problem is that most if not all this research has been conducted on all male populations and it is assumed that women offenders are the same However women have different needs and support systems than men in some areas of their lives and it is unclear whether all research based on men can be generalized in this way The book provides a review of the research literature to guide evidence based practice in the assessment and treatment of adult female offenders An historical overview of women's crime and imprisonment will be followed by a global review of various theories of female criminality The remainder of the book reviews the psychology of criminal conduct with a specific focus on three psychological principles of effective intervention risk need and responsivity Respectively these principles set the who what and how for correctional intervention

Crime and the American Dream

Steven F. Messner, Richard Rosenfeld, 2001 Using current statistics and analysis of crime rates to develop their theory Messner sociology SUNY Albany and Rosenfeld sociology U of Missouri St Louis advance the argument that exceptionally high crime rates in the US are due to distinctive sociological patterns in particular the formula for the American Dream a strong emphasis on the goal of monetary success and a weak emphasis on the importance of the legitimate means for the pursuit of success They conclude with a proposal for a mature society built on mutual support and collective obligations This new edition addresses recent drops in crime rates and is updated throughout Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Journal of Contemporary Criminal Justice ,1997 Encyclopedia of Crime and Punishment: S-Z, Index

David Levinson, 2002 Review Authoritative and comprehensive this multivolume set includes hundreds of articles in the field of criminal justice Impressive arrays of authors have contributed to this resource addressing such diverse topics as racial profiling money laundering torture prisoner literature the KGB and Sing Sing Written in an accessible manner and attractively presented the background discussions definitions and explanations of important issues and future trends are absorbing Interesting sidebars and facts reference lists relevant court cases tables and black and white photographs supplement the entries Appendixes cover careers in criminal justice Web resources and professional organizations A lengthy bibliography lists relevant works The Best of the Best Reference Sources American Libraries May 2003 Crime and Criminology

Sue Titus Reid, 2000 This text gives a broad context in which to study the history theories and responses to crime and criminology using a blend of both social science and research It includes legal case excerpts to demonstrate the role of the courts in the reformation of the criminal justice system Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice: Abortion to Cruel & unusual punishment
