Women's Health in Africa Chimaraoke Izugbara, Eleanor Covan, Elizabeth Fugate-Whitlock, 2017-10-02 This edited book includes new policy relevant research on women's health issues in Africa. Scholars explore critical topics from different disciplinary traditions using a variety of research methodologies and data sources. The contributors include African scholars with in-depth knowledge of their home contexts who can furnish nuanced interpretations of local health issues and trends; international researchers who bring vigorous comparative viewpoints; emerging scholars adding to scientific knowledge; and more established researchers with a deep global knowledge of women's health issues. The range of women's health issues is vast, including the HIV epidemic and its impacts, domestic violence, the persistence of homebirths and abortion. In addition, the book investigates emerging health concerns such as CVDs and cancers. Readers will learn that while old health issues have persisted and assumed new dimensions, newer concerns have materialized and are gaining momentum. The inability of health systems to tackle these issues complicates matters in Africa, creating a sense of desperation that can only be successfully confronted through strong political will and strategic planning grounded in further research. This book was originally published as several special issues of Health Care for Women International. The Artist-Enterprise in the Digital Age Xavier Greffe, 2016-06-29. This book is a monograph of cultural economics of a new concept: artist enterprises. It explores various dimensions that artists embody: i.e. aesthetic, critical, messianic, and economic ones, and screens the multiple challenges faced by the artist enterprises in terms of pricing, funding, and networking in the Digital Age. It shows how these artist enterprises are at the core of the contemporary creative industries. Even when they are on their own, artists have to demonstrate or manage a variety of skills, sign contracts both in the early and later stages of their activities, and also maintain relationships and networks that enable them to attain their artistic and economic goals. They are no longer simply entrepreneurs managing their own skills but are the enterprises themselves. The artist enterprises thus find themselves at the confluence of two dynamics: production, artistic, and economic. Artistic because they invent new expressions and meanings; and economic because these expressions must be supported by monetary values on the market. The artistic dynamic is part of a long process of artistic enhancement, and only an artist can say whether it has reached the point of presentation or equilibrium. The economic dynamic is dependent on the constant endorsement of artists' works by the market to ensure their survival as artist enterprises. The tension created by this disparity is further aggravated by another tension: the need to overcome a number of risks so that artist enterprises can progress. This book will be of special interest to artists, managers, students, professionals, and researchers in the fields of the arts, creativity, economics, and development. The author is Emeritus Professor at the University Paris I Panthéon-Sorbonne.
