W. Maggie Kim, Susan M. St. Ville, Susan M. Simonaitis, 1993 This volume explores the impact and import of the provocative and challenging work in this generation's most notable French feminists. Despite the growing influence of the French feminists in the humanities especially in literary criticism poststructuralism and psychoanalysis American religionists have only recently begun to utilize their approaches and theories. The volume introduces the characteristic concerns and themes of the leading French feminists particularly Helene Cixous Luce Irigaray and Julia Kristeva assesses their work against the very different orientations and impulses of North American feminism and gauges the potential of their ideas for both hermeneutical explorations and for feminist theologies. In the process contributors shed important light on such issues as the normativity of women's experience the character of subjectivity and structural dimensions of oppression. In response he finds a genuine desire among Americans for both individual and social transformation. He suggests however that we may have lost sight of the Creator's call for us to join in the work of creation through direct partnership with others not just with other Christians in nurturing change. Sponheim claims the ecstatic power of religion for individual and social transformation and explores how the human status as creature entails responsibility to God in the drama that creation constitutes. In central chapters on Interruption Calling and Relationship he clearly shows how transformation takes place through our participation in God's ongoing creative work Periods of European Literature , 1899 Horizon , 1986
