

Father With A Heart Of Gold

We lost a father with a heart of gold,
How much we miss him can never be told,
He shared our troubles and helped us along,
If we follow his foot steps,
We will never go wrong.

We miss you from your fireside chair,
Your loving smile and gentle air,
Your vacant place no one can fill,
We miss you father and always will.

He was a father so very rare,
Content in his home and always there,
On earth he toiled, in heaven he rests,
God bless you father,
You were one of the best.

Each time we look at your picture,
You seem to smile and say,
Don't be sad but courage take,
And love each other for my own sake.

The Lost Father:

The Lost Father Marina Warner, 2012-02-29 Like Visconti's film The Leopard this magnificent novel paints in sensuous colours the story of a family. It brings to new life the ancient disparaged south of the Italian peninsula weakened by emigration, silenced by fascism. According to family legend David Pittagora died as a result of a duel. His death is the mysterious pivot around which his grand daughter, an independent modern woman, constructs an imaginary memoir of her mother's background and life. She follows the family as they emigrate to New York where they find only humiliation and poverty, and after their return to Italy in the early 1920s. As she is drawn by the passions and prejudices of her own imagination, we see how family memory like folk memory weaves its own dreams. The Lost Father Mona

Simpson, 2014-06-26 In her highly acclaimed first novel Anywhere But Here Simpson created one of the most astute yet vulnerable heroines in contemporary fiction. Now Mayan Atassi once Mayan Stevenson returns in an immensely powerful novel about love and lovelessness, fathers and fatherlessness, and the loyalties that shape us even when they threaten to destroy us. Now a woman of twenty-eight and finally on her own in medical school, Mayan becomes obsessed with the father she never knew, leading her to hire detectives to dredge up the past, thus eroding her savings, ruining her career, and flirting with madness in a search spanning two continents. The Lost Father Mike Price, 2011 The Lost Father Marina

Warner, 1989 The Lost Father is the narrator's story of her search for her own and her family's identity. Davide Pittagora, her grandfather, died from a bullet wound, and his duel is the pivot on which this independent modern woman turns an imaginary memoir of her mother's family. As she is drawn into her own invention, the story becomes distorted, and her family are forced to re-invent the absent Davide. The Lost Father Arne Garborg, 1920 The Lost Father - Primary Source Edition Arne
