The Role of the Media in Shaping

Physical Activity and Pro-Health Interests in Students Jędrzej Skrzypczak,Tadeusz Wallas,2022-06-20 The main objective of the scientific project was to examine the impact of media messages on interests preferences and primarily the attitudes of academic youth related to sports and physical activity According to the researchers involved the issue seems noteworthy because the media has been in the process of radical transformation One of the effects is the change in the forms and platforms of media consumption especially among young persons belonging to the Z generation The research team faced many probing questions First of all how are the interests preferences and attitudes of university youth to academic sports and a healthy lifestyle shaped To what extent does the current media offer related to the mentioned topics remain compatible with them at the level of national and academic media What are the strengths and weaknesses of the Polish system of media messages regarding academic sports and a lifestyle conducive to health Secondly attempts were made to answer the question to what extent contemporary university audio visual media can support the concept of influencing the student community in popularising physical activity Thirdly To what extent can contemporary social media available on the internet support the notion of influencing the student environment by promoting physical activity Finally How can the information selection and thematic scope be shaped to influence the academic community in furthering sports effectively We hope that this work will contribute to the proper use of all available media communication channels to improve the physical condition and health of the Z or C i e Connected generation They do not know life and the world without the network My First Book about Wisconsin Carole Marsh,1994

Pan Am Flight 103 the Maid of the Seas flying from Frankfurt to New York exploded over Lockerbie Scotland killing 270 people Among the victims were citizens from over 21 countries 11 villagers and 35 Syracuse University students returning home from studying abroad The bombing set in motion a drama of epic proportions played out on television screens and newspaper pages around the world Scenes from the tragedy etched themselves on the public consciousness a screaming mother at Kennedy Airport collapsing upon learning of the fate of her child flames engulfing the modest homes of Lockerbie weeping Syracuse University students in mourning at a basketball game the mangled cockpit of the jumbo jet resting in an idyllic Scottish meadow Behind these scenes another drama unfolded Hundreds of journalists swarmed to the traumatized village In New York scores of reporters photographers and cameramen rushed to the airport to record the reactions of bereaved family members All over the country people watched the names of the dead scrolling across their televisions many praying for those presumed to be on board The disaster also engulfed institutions many unprepared to mediate between the public s need for information and the need for privacy by those most affected In engrossing detail The Media and Disasters chronicles the story behind the headlines illustrating how the media and the people it encountered in pursuit of the news experienced and affected the journalistic process The book addresses in narrative fashion the universal themes common to most tragedies emphasizing the increasingly powerful role of the media and its agents in representing such catastrophes to the world

Megaphone Bureaucracy Dennis C. Grube,2019-05-14 A revealing look at how today s bureaucrats are finding their public voice in the era of 24 hour media Once relegated to the anonymous back rooms of democratic debate our bureaucratic leaders are increasingly having to govern under the scrutiny of a 24 hour news cycle hyperpartisan political oversight and a restless populace that is increasingly distrustful of the people who govern them Megaphone Bureaucracy reveals how today s civil servants are finding a voice of their own as they join elected politicians on the public stage and jockey for advantage in the persuasion game of modern governance In this timely and incisive book Dennis Grube draws on in depth interviews and compelling case studies from the United States the United Kingdom Australia Canada and New Zealand to describe how senior bureaucrats are finding themselves drawn into political debates they could once avoid Faced with a political climate where polarization and media spin are at an all time high these modern mandarins negotiate blame games and manage contradictory expectations in the glare of an unforgiving spotlight Grube argues that in this fiercely divided public square a new style of bureaucratic leadership is emerging one that marries the robust independence of Washington agency heads with the prudent political neutrality of Westminster civil servants These Washminster leaders do not avoid the public gaze nor do they overtly court political controversy Rather they use their increasingly public pulpits to exert their own brand of persuasive power Megaphone Bureaucracy shows how today s senior bureaucrats are making their voices heard by embracing a new style of communication that brings with it great danger but also great opportunity     Life of Edward Bouverie Pusey Henry Parry Liddon,1894     Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1994     New York ,2000
