The Mckennas:

Engaging Characters Murray Smith, 2022-05-12 Characters those fictional agents populating the fictional worlds we spend so much time absorbed in are ubiquitous in our lives We track their fortunes judge their actions and respond to them with anger amusement and affection indeed the whole palette of human emotions Powerfully drawn characters transcend their stories entering into our imaginations and deliberations about the actual world acting as analogies and points of reference And yet there has been remarkably little sustained and systematic reflection on these creatures that absorb so much of our attention and emotional lives In Engaging Characters Murray Smith sets out a comprehensive analysis of character exploring the role of characters in our experience of narrative and fiction Smith's analysis focuses on film and also illuminates character in literature opera song cartoons new and social media At the heart of this account is an explanation of the capacity of characters to move us Teasing out the various dimensions of character Smith explores the means by which films draw us close to characters or hold us at a distance from them and how our beliefs and attitudes are formed and sometimes reformed by these encounters Integrating these arguments with research on emotion in philosophy psychology evolutionary theory and anthropology Engaging Characters advances an account of the nature of fictional characters and their functions in fiction imagination and human experience In this revised twenty fifth anniversary edition of Engaging Characters Smith refines and extends the arguments of the first edition with a substantial new introduction reviewing the debates on emotion empathy and film spectatorship that the book has inspired All for Her, 1877 Donahoe's Magazine, 1892 The Molly Maguires and the Detectives Allan Pinkerton, 1878 Some MacKenna Pedigrees in the United States of America, Ireland, England, Spain and Chile, 1944 The Flynns of Flynnville Catherine Jane Hamilton, 1880 The Art of Alfred Hitchcock Donald Spoto, 1976 Four Years of Irish History, 1845-1849 Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, 1883 The Post-Utopian Imagination M. Keith Booker, 2002-01-30 In America the long 1950s were marked by an intense skepticism toward utopian alternatives to the existing capitalist order This skepticism was closely related to the climate of the Cold War in which the demonization of socialism contributed to a dismissal of all alternatives to capitalism This book studies how American novels and films of the long 1950s reflect the loss of the utopian imagination and mirror the growing concern that capitalism brought routinization alienation and other dehumanizing consequences The volume relates the decline of the utopian vision to the rise of late capitalism with its expanding globalization and consumerism and to the beginnings of postmodernism In addition to well known literary novels such as Nabokov's Lolita Booker explores a large body of leftist fiction popular novels and the films of Alfred Hitchcock and Walt Disney The book argues that while the canonical novels of the period employ a utopian aesthetic that aesthetic tends to be very weak and is not reinforced by content The leftist novels on the other hand employ a realist aesthetic but are utopian in their exploration of alternatives to capitalism The study concludes that the utopian energies in cultural productions of the long 1950s are very weak and that these works tend to dismiss utopian thinking as naïve or even sinister. The weak utopianism in these works tends to be reflected in characteristics associated with postmodernism. Young Ireland Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, 1880 Hallucinating the End of History Eric Cunningham, 2007. This monograph explores and describes the historical continuities and relationships between 20th c Zen Buddhism, the postwar psychedelic movement and postmodern eschatology. In general terms, this is a rich, complex study; the work is a critique of modernization theory as a way of viewing history and suggests the modern epoch like the Greco-Roman world before it will only end when the modern world ends. Accordingly, many postmodern movements seek to end modernity through violent action. Germany and Japan in WW1 etc. while others seek to bring to an end modern consciousness e.g. the psychedelic movement which posed a major historical challenge to bourgeois morality, values and modes of experiencing space and time. The core of the study is a critique of the historical philosophy of Japan's greatest modern philosopher Nishida Kitaro and in particular his historical eschatology. Cunningham examines the Zen-based metaphysics of Nishida's thought and links this to historical resonances between the philosopher, 20th c Zen Buddhism, The West's leading theorist D.T. Suzuki, who was a friend of Nishida, and the psychedelic New Age movement which sought to achieve authentic experience outside of history. History and Ideas Series No 2. This work is a valuable addition to research library collections that focus on Japan, 20th alternative movements, Zen and/or the philosophy of history. Dr Elizabeth Koda.

Joseph McKenna Brother Matthew McDevitt, 1946 Iomarbhaidh na bhfileadh Lambert McKenna, 1918 Kurt Meyer on Trial P. Whitney Lackenbauer, Chris Madsen, 2007. In late 1945 a Canadian military court sitting in occupied Germany convicted Waffen SS General Kurt Meyer on charges related to the murder of Canadian prisoners of war in Normandy. It was Canada's first entry into the war crimes field and the trial raised several important operational and legal issues, particularly with regard to command responsibility. Although sentenced to death by firing squad, Meyer was saved by the controversial decision of Canadian military authorities to commute the sentence and was released after less than a decade of imprisonment in New Brunswick and West Germany. Meyer's war crimes trial and the final result caused consternation and outrage among the Canadian public at the time. It remains among the most contentious episodes in Canadian military history. This collection brings together previously unpublished documents related to Canada's prosecution of Kurt Meyer, including the original trial transcript and selected materials to situate the trial in its political, military, diplomatic and legal context. p 4 of Cover Joseph McKenna, Associate Justice of the United States Brother Matthew McDevitt, 1946 Books Ireland, 1992 The Northwestern Reporter, 1905 The Capital, 1899
