Federal Statistics, Multiple Data Sources, and Privacy Protection National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, Panel on Improving Federal Statistics for Policy and Social Science Research Using Multiple Data Sources and State-of-the-Art Estimation Methods, 2017-12-27 The environment for obtaining information and providing statistical data for policy makers and the public has changed significantly in the past decade, raising questions about the fundamental survey paradigm that underlies federal statistics. New data sources provide opportunities to develop a new paradigm that can improve timeliness, geographic or subpopulation detail, and statistical efficiency. It also has the potential to reduce the costs of producing federal statistics. The panel's first report described federal statistical agencies' current paradigm, which relies heavily on sample surveys for producing national statistics, and challenges agencies are facing: the legal frameworks and mechanisms for protecting the privacy and confidentiality of statistical data and for providing researchers access to data and challenges to those frameworks and mechanisms and statistical agencies' access to alternative sources of data. The panel recommended a new approach for federal statistical programs that would combine diverse data sources from government and private sector sources and the creation of a new entity that would provide the foundational elements needed for this new approach, including legal authority to access data and protect privacy. This second of the panel's two reports builds on the analysis, conclusions, and recommendations in the first one. This report assesses alternative methods for implementing a new approach that would combine diverse data sources from government and private sector sources, including describing statistical models for combining data from multiple sources, examining statistical and computer science approaches that foster privacy.

protections evaluating frameworks for assessing the quality and utility of alternative data sources and various models for implementing the recommended new entity Together the two reports offer ideas and recommendations to help federal statistical agencies examine and evaluate data from alternative sources and then combine them as appropriate to provide the country with more timely actionable and useful information for policy makers businesses and individuals Toward a New Strategy for Development Albert O. Hirschman,Dudley Seers,Paul Streeten,2014-05-19 Toward a New Strategy for Development A Rothko Chapel Colloquium is a collection of papers commissioned by the Rothko Chapel and presented at a colloquium held in Houston Texas on February 3 5 1977 The colloquium provided a forum for discussing the need for a new strategy for development with emphasis on needs and programs from the perspectives of the developed countries at the center of the world s economic system and of the developing countries at its periphery and from the standpoint of different disciplines Comprised of 10 chapters this book begins with an introduction to Marxism and its congruence with other neoclassical doctrines such as the Chicago School followed by a discussion on development economics as well as the conditions that gave rise to the rapidly growing interest in development The next chapter traces the origins and history of one major body of Latin American ideas on development since the early 1950s the United Nation s Economic Commission for Latin America Subsequent chapters explore internal issues of development within countries with emphasis on urban and rural bias as well as factors that influence regional development policy the postwar economic experience of the Third World and the reactions of developed countries to calls for a new international economic order This monograph will be of interest to economists and sociologists Statistics W.A.
