Reno,2020-08-19 This book questions when exactly the Anthropocene began uncovering an early Anthropocene in the literature art and science of eighteenth and nineteenth century Britain In chapters organized around the classical elements of Earth Fire Water and Air Seth Reno shows how literary writers of the Industrial Era borrowed from scientists to capture the changes they witnessed to weather climate and other systems Poets linked the hellish flames of industrial furnaces to the magnificent geophysical force of volcanic explosions Novelists and painters depicted cloud formations and polluted urban atmospheres as part of the emerging discipline of climate science In so doing the subjects of Reno s study some famous some more obscure gave form to a growing sense of humans as geophysical agents capable of reshaping Earth itself Situated at the interaction of literary studies environmental studies and science studies Early Anthropocene Literature in Britain tells the story of how writers heralded and wrestled with Britain s role in sparking the now familiar epoch of humans The Golden Age Ian Inkster,Colin Griffin,Judith Rowbotham,2017-07-05 In 1850 the Industrial Revolution came to an end In 1851 the Great Exhibition illustrated to the whole world the supremacy of industrial England For the next twenty years Britain reigned supreme From around 1870 Britain began to decline Britain is now a second rate power with strong memories of its former supremacy The above five sentences summarise a common view of the sequencing of Britain s rise and relative fall a stereotype that is challenged and modified in the essays of The Golden Age By concentrating on central aspects of social and industrial change authors expose the underpinnings of supremacy its unsung underside its tarnished gold Major themes cover industrial and technological change social institutions and gender relations in a period during which industry and industrialism were equally celebrated and nurtured Against this background it is difficult to argue for any sudden decline of energy assets or institution nor for any significant move from an industrial society to one in which a hearty manufacturing was replaced by commerce and land sensibility and artifice More Than Mere Amusement Catriona M. future As Susan Zlotnick argues in Women Writing and the Industrial Revolution women writers foresaw in the industrial revolution the prospect of real improvements Zlotnick also examines the poetry and fiction produced by working class men and women She includes texts written by the Chartists the largest laboring class movement in the early nineteenth century as well as those of the dialect tradition the popular commercial literature of the industrial working class after mid century

Factory Girl H. Gustav Klaus,1998 It is at last being recognized that contrary to common understanding there were working class women poets in the nineteenth century Yet this growing awareness is rarely accompanied by a sustained engagement with their poetry Painstaking research into the life and work of an author remains constricted to the Brownings and Rossettis of both sexes The present study breaks with this academic habit It is the first critical biography of the Glaswegian writer who signed her poems as The Factory Girl It is an essay in recovery and exploration situating Ellen Johnston at the intersection of gender class and nation It documents her range of subjects styles and voices The book is concluded by a selection of Ellen Johnston s verse The Gentleman's Magazine ,1968 Book-prices Current ,1891
