CABLE MODEM/ROUTER WITH WIRELESS-N QUICK START

This Quick Start describes how to connect the Cable Modem/Router with Wireless-N as a cable modem service as an Internet gateway for computers and/or other local wireless or Ethernet-capable devices. More detailed information, including information about advanced features, is in the User Manual on the CD.

Package Contents

- Cable modem/router
- Power cord
- Ethernet RJ-45 cable
- CD with User Manual

Before Installing Your Cable Modem

Your cable service provider needs to know your modem's MAC ADDRESS, which is printed on a label on the bottom of your modem. You can provide this when you order cable modem service or if you already ordered and are by calling the cable company (SO/OPS) mobile-ing your modem. You may also be asked for your cable modem's model name and number, either a DOOM-CAN. If you read the modem's serial number, you can find it over the MAC address on the modem's label.

System Requirements

- You need to connect the cable modem to a cable modem service that uses one of the popular DOCSIS standards – 3.0, 2.0, or 1.1. If you need to get cable modem service, please speak with your cable service provider.
- To use the Quick Start, you need a computer, an iPad, or another tablet.

If your cable service provider provided a cable modem starter kit, please continue below. If you don't have a cable kit to use the cable modem starter kit from your service provider, go to How to connect to a computer if you don't have or choose not to use a cable modem starter kit.

If your cable service provider provided a cable modem starter kit

Some cable service providers supply a cable modem starter kit that can be useful when you install your cable modem. The kit may include a coaxial cable for connecting between a wall jack and your cable modem. (There are also available at most electronics retailers.) There will include instructions, and may also include a CD with software. If you receive a kit like this, we recommend that you read the kit's instructions and use them to install your Zoom cable modem/router. This modem is DOCSIS 3.0 conforming, Cablelabs, and connects like a normal cable modem.

You will need to plug the modem's power cord, connect to cable modem service using a coaxial cable, and then connect to a computer using either the modem's Ethernet ports or the wireless feature (see Using the Cable Modem/Router to Make a Wireless Connection).

Note: Please refer to the Hardware Connection section if you would like to see a diagram of the back of the cable modem and a description of the connections.

After you have installed your cable modem and it has synchronized itself with the cable network, your cable modem can connect your computer to the Internet.

Note: Allow 5 to 30 minutes to power up the first time because the cable modem/router must locate and connect to the appropriate channels for communication. You'll see the DS, US, and/or Online modem lights flashing until the Online light stays steady green or higher success.

Now open your browser and go to a familiar Web site to check that the cable modem is working.

- If you want to connect the modem/router wirelessly to some device, use Connecting the Cable Modem/Router Wirelessly to Some Device.

- If you want to connect additional computers/devices using the modem/router's Ethernet/LAN ports, please see Read This Only If You Are Connecting Additional Computers and/or Other Devices to the Cable Modem/Router's Ethernet ports.
- If you want to configure advanced options, please refer to the User Manual on the CD.

How to connect to a computer if you don't have or choose not to use a cable modem starter kit

1. Be sure your computer is on and the cable modem is unplugged.
   Note: Please refer to the Hardware Connection section if you would like to see a diagram of the back of the cable modem and a description of the connections or you need the following steps.

2. Connect one end of the coaxial cable to the cable point or splitter. Connect the other end of the coaxial cable to the Cable connection on the rear panel of the cable modem. Hand tighten the connections to avoid damaging them.
   - The coax connect a coaxial cable between an open cable jack to and back and the cable modem. Once a jack is available, you can use a coaxial Connector or splitter.
   - Alternatively, there may already be a coaxial cable that a connection is service and that has an open end for connecting to the cable modem.

3. Plug the power cord into the AC IN connection on the rear panel of the cable modem and into the electrical outlet. This turns the cable modem on. Check if the Power LED light is up.

4. For initial setup, we recommend that you connect the provided Ethernet cable to any Gigabit Ethernet port (LAN 1, LAN 1, 2, 3, 4) on the rear panel of the cable modem/router and connect the other end to the Ethernet port on your computer. If you want to connect your computer wirelessly instead, start Connecting the Cable Modem/Router Wirelessly to Some Device.
   Note: Allow 5 to 30 minutes to power up the first time because the cable modem must locate and connect to the appropriate channels for communication. You'll see the DS, US, and/or Online modem lights flashing until the Online light stays steady green or higher success.
