Youngson, 1970 The Making of Classical Edinburgh A. J. Youngson, 2019-09-15 This famous study of the planning financing and building of the New Town in Edinburgh brings to life one of the most remarkable urban expansion programmes ever undertaken A J Youngson introduces the modern reader to the vigour of the planning debates the fundraising schemes the administrative and legislative infrastructure of planning the construction of public buildings as poles of attraction for speculative building and all the hopes quarrels victories and civic bankruptcy that went into this great experiment Superbly illustrated with photographs by acclaimed photographer Edwin Smith along with a selection of contemporary images and a preface by Colin McLean this book is a classic work of economic and social history and a fascinating account of the shaping of one of the most beautiful cities in the world The Making of Classical Edinburgh, 1750-1840 A. J. Youngson, 1975 The Making of Classical Edinburgh, 1750-1840 George William Clarkson Kaye, 1966 Robert and James Adam, Architects of the Age of Enlightenment Ariyuki Kondo, 2015-10-06 During the second half of the eighteenth century British architecture moved away from the dominant school of classicism in favour of a more creative freedom of expression At the forefront of this change were architect brothers Robert and James Adam Kondo s work places them within the context of eighteenth century intellectual thought Making of Classical Edinburgh, 1780-1840 A. J. Youngson, 1966 Building reputations Conor Lucey, 2018-05-10 Taking a cue from revisionist scholarship on early modern vernacular architectures and their relationship to the classical canon this book rehabilitates the reputations of a representative if misunderstood building typology the eighteenth century brick terraced house and the artisan communities of bricklayers carpenters and plasterers responsible for its design and construction Opening with a cultural history of the building tradesman in terms of his reception within contemporary architectural discourse chapters consider the design decoration and marketing of the town house in the principal cities of the eighteenth and early nineteenth century British Atlantic world The book is essential reading for students and scholars of the history of architectural design and interior decoration specifically and of eighteenth century society and culture generally Police Courts in Nineteenth-Century Scotland, Volume 2 Professor Susan Broomhall, Dr David G Barrie, 2015-01-28 Taking the form of two companion volumes Police Courts in Nineteenth Century Scotland represents the first major investigation into summary justice in Scottish towns c 1800 to 1892 Whereas Volume 1 subtitled Magistrates Media and the Masses analysed the establishment development and practice of police courts Volume 2 explores through themed case studies the role of police courts in moulding cultural ideas social behaviours and urban environments in the nineteenth century The Behavioural Environment F.W. Boal, D.N. Livingstone, 2003-09-02 Placing human action and perception at the centre of the subject this book considers the effects of mankind on the environment drawing particularly from William Kirk's work on the behavioural environment model. Reviewing Kirk's original model in light of recent ideological debate and extensive new evidence, this collection of essays from leading names in the field shows that a behavioural approach is essential in understanding human geography and man's relationship with the ecological environment. Police Courts in Nineteenth-Century Scotland, Volume 2 David G. Barrie, Susan Broomhall, 2016-04-22. Volume 2 of this two-volume companion study into the administration, experience, impact and representation of summary justice in Scotland explores the role of police courts in moulding cultural ideas, social behaviours and urban environments in the nineteenth century. Whereas Volume 1, subtitled Magistrates, Media and the Masses, analysed the establishment, development and practice of police courts, Volume 2, subtitled Boundaries, Behaviours and Bodies, examines through themed case studies how these civic and judicial institutions shaped conceptual, spatial, temporal and commercial boundaries by regulating every-day activities, pastimes and cultures. As with Volume 1, Boundaries, Behaviours and Bodies is attentive to the relationship between magistrates, the police, the media and the wider community, but here the main focus of analysis is on the role and impact of the police courts through their practice on cultural ideas, social behaviours and environments in the nineteenth-century city. By intertwining social, cultural, institutional and criminological analyses, this volume examines police courts' external impact through the matters they treated, considering how concepts such as childhood and juvenile behaviour, violence and its victims, poverty, migration, health and disease and the regulation of leisure and trade were assessed and ultimately affected by judicial practice.

Rassegna, 1983. Transactions of the Ancient Monuments Society, Ancient Monuments Society, 1989. The Journal of Sir Walter Scott, Walter Scott, 1998. I have all my life regretted that I did not keep a regular journal. I have myself lost recollection of much that was interesting and I have deprived my family and the public of some curious information by not carrying this resolution into effect. Sunday 20 November 1825. With these words Scott began what many regard as his greatest work, a diary which was to turn into an extraordinary day-to-day account of the last six years of his life: years of financial ruin, bereavement and increasing ill health. As he laboured to pay off debts of over 120,000, Scott emerges not simply as a great writer but as an almost heroic figure whose generosity and even temper shine through at all times. This edition presents a complete, edited text and notes drawing on a wealth of other material, including correspondence, reminiscences and the memoirs of Scott's contemporaries. It remains one of the standards by which Scott scholarship is judged. Library of Congress Catalog, Library of Congress, 1965.
