What Fuels the Boom Drives the Bust Jihad Dagher,Mr.Ning Fu,2011-09-01 We show that the lightly regulated non bank mortgage originators contributed disproportionately to the recent boom bust housing cycle Using comprehensive data on mortgage originations which we aggregate at the county level we first establish that the market share of these independent non bank lenders increased in virtually all US counties during the boom We then exploit the heterogeneity in the market share of independent lenders across counties as of 2005 and show that higher market participation by these lenders is associated with increased foreclosure filing rates at the onset of the housing downturn We carefully control for counties economic demographic and housing market characteristics using both parametric and semi nonparametric methods We show that this relation between the pre crisis market share of independents and the rise in foreclosure is more pronounced in less regulated states The macroeconomic consequences of our findings are significant we show that the market share of these lenders as of 2005 is also a strong predictor of the severity of the housing downturn and subsequent rise in unemployment Overall our findings lend support to the view that more stringent regulation could have averted some of the volatility on the housing market during the recent boom bust episode

The Underbelly of the Indian Boom Stuart Corbridge,Alpa Shah,2016-02-05 As India emerges as a major economic power producing dollar billionaires rising at the rate of 17 per year more than 800 million Indians eke out a living on less than two dollars a day This book takes the reader to the underbelly of the Indian boom an India that is not shining but is struggling to survive From the Indo Soviet Bhilai Steel Plant in Chhattisgarh where an aristocracy of labour is increasingly being replaced by a more vulnerable contract labour force we move to the banks of the Hoogly River Here Norwegian shipping companies exploit a precarious labour force that is as vulnerable to the vagaries of global finance and its crisis as the elderly especially women and wage workers who live in the slums of Chennai Also in Tamil Nadu but this time in Tiruppur we find that the garment and textile industries boom has nurtured new regimes of debt bondage among industrial workers Though public concern about the vulnerability in which poor people find themselves has resulted in new nation wide schemes framed in the language of rights we find in Bihar and Madhya Pradesh that the practical workings of these schemes are dependent on the regional political systems in which they are enmeshed We end in the belly of the Maoist inspired Naxalite insurgency denounced by the Indian government as the country's greatest security challenge where the poor are being mobilised to rise against the injustices of the Indian state
