Raymond,Tariq Modood,2007-11-09 Britain and France have divergent attitudes to the issue of minority identities Whilst the British emphasise multiculturalism allowing that it is possible to combine race or faith with a British identity the French view such a combination of religion and nationality as unacceptable However recent events have challenged these traditional approaches to minorities The London bombings of July 2005 and the fact that the perpetrators were British threw into question the assumption that the elevation of difference could lead to community cohesion whilst riots in Birmingham in October 2005 between black and Asian communities further highlighted tensions Similarly French certainties about their proactive attitude to the integration of minorities into a national community unified by common value were profoundly shaken by rioting in urban areas
