The Skyward Trend of Thought Thomas A. P. van Leeuwen, 1988 Thomas van Leeuwen rejects the functionalist view of skyscraper production and instead sets up a very different argument one that resurrects the powerful aesthetic and ideological values of the mythical skyscraper

The Skyward Trend of Thought Thomas A. P. van Leeuwen, 1986 Vijf essays waarin getracht wordt het karakter en de geschiedenis van de Amerikaanse wolkenkrabber te analyseren

American Technological Sublime David E. Nye, 1996-02-28 American Technological Sublime continues the exploration of the social construction of technology that David Nye began in his award winning book Electrifying America Here Nye examines the continuing appeal of the technological sublime a term coined by Perry Miller as a key to the nation's history using as examples the natural sites architectural forms and technological achievements that ordinary people have valued intensely Technology has long played a central role in the formation of Americans sense of selfhood From the first canal systems through the moon landing Americans have for better or worse derived unity from the common feeling of awe inspired by large scale applications of technological prowess American Technological Sublime continues the exploration of the social construction of technology that David Nye began in his award winning book Electrifying America Here Nye examines the continuing appeal of the technological sublime a term coined by Perry Miller as a key to the nation's history using as examples the natural sites architectural forms and technological achievements that ordinary people have valued intensely American Technological Sublime is a study of the politics of perception in industrial society Arranged chronologically it suggests that the sublime itself has a history that sublime experiences are emotional configurations that emerge from new social and technological conditions and that each new configuration to some extent undermines and displaces the older versions After giving a short history of the sublime as an aesthetic category Nye describes the reemergence and democratization of the concept in the early nineteenth century as an expression of the American sense of specialness What has filled the American public with wonder awe even terror David Nye selects the Grand Canyon Niagara Falls the eruption of Mt St Helens the Erie Canal the first transcontinental railroad Eads Bridge Brooklyn Bridge the major international expositions the Hudson Fulton Celebration of 1909 the Empire State Building and Boulder Dam He then looks at the atom bomb tests and the Apollo mission as examples of the increasing ambivalence of the technological sublime in the postwar world The festivities surrounding the rededication of the Statue of Liberty in 1986 become a touchstone reflecting the transformation of the American experience of the sublime over two centuries Nye concludes with a vision of the modern day consumer sublime as manifested in the fantasy world of Las Vegas

The Chicago Tribune Tower Competition
Katherine Solomonson, 2003-11-15 In 1922 the Chicago Tribune sponsored an international competition to design its new corporate headquarters Both a serious design contest and a brilliant publicity stunt the competition received worldwide attention for the hundreds of submissions from the sublime to the ridiculous it garnered In this lavishly illustrated book

Katherine Solomonson tells the fascinating story of the competition the diverse architectural designs it attracted and its lasting impact She shows how the Tribune used the competition to position itself as a civic institution whose new headquarters would serve as a defining public monument for Chicago For architects planners and others the competition sparked influential debates over the design and social functions of skyscrapers It also played a crucial role in the development of advertising consumer culture and a new national identity in the turbulent years after World War I

Gender Studies in Architecture Dörte Kuhlmann, 2014-04-11 Analyzing a range of ideas from biological evolutionary and anthropological theories to a variety of feminist psychoanalytic poststructuralist and constructivist discourses this book provides a comprehensive introduction to the problematics of gender and power in architectural and urban design Topics range from conceptions of postulated matriarchal architecture in Old Europe to contemporary technologies of control from the mechanisms of gaze to architectural performatives from the under representation of women in the planning profession to the integration of gender issues to the curriculum The particular strengths of the book lie in its inclusiveness and critical analysis It is not a partisan defence of feminism or any other theory but a critical introduction to the issues relating to gender Moreover the conclusions reach beyond a narrow gender studies perspective to social and ethical considerations that are unavoidable in any responsible architectural or urbanistic practice With its broad range and balanced analysis of different theories the book is suitable as an overview of gender studies in architecture and useful for any designer who is concerned with the social effects of the built environment

Charles Sheeler Mark Rawlinson, 2020-09-08 Charles Sheeler was the stark poet of the machine age Photographer of the Ford Motor Company and founder of the painting movement Precisionism he is remembered as a promoter of and apologist for the industrialised capitalist ethic This major new rethink of one of the key figures of American modernism argues that Sheeler's true relationship to progress was in fact highly negative his precisionism both skewed and imprecise Covering the entire oeuvre from photography to painting and drawing attention to the inconsistencies curiosities and puzzles embedded in Sheeler's work Rawlinson reveals a profound critique of the processes of rationalisation and the conditions of modernity The book argues finally for a re evaluation of Sheeler's often dismissed late work which it suggests may only be understood through a radical shift in our understanding of the work of this prominent figure
