The Janus Code:

The Janus Code E. R. Renner, 2003-03 Middleware 2010 Indranil Gupta, Cecilia Mascolo, 2010-11-26 We are pleased to welcome you to the eleventh edition of the Middleware conference. The program this year is a sign of the robustness, activity, and continued growth of the Middleware community. As computing technology around us has evolved rapidly over the past decade, our notions of middleware have also adapted so that we stay focused on the most challenging and relevant problems for the present and future. As a result, this year's program features papers that belong to both traditional areas as well as new directions. Cloud computing, social middleware, and transactional memory are some of the vanguard areas that you will find in this year's selection of papers. In addition, topics that have always been central to the community are also prominent this year, including publish/subscribe, multicast, reliability, legacy, location awareness, trust, and security. The community's wise evolution reflects the dynamic role that middleware continues to play in the development of current software systems. The program underscores the competitive selection process applied by us and the technical program committee: out of 116 papers submitted this year, we accepted 18 for regular publication. In addition, Middleware 2010 also includes a new category of Big Ideas Papers, which are bold white papers with the potential to drive longer-term innovation in the field. We selected one Big Ideas paper this year. Our industrial track once again brings forth papers that explore middleware foundations in the context of industrial practice. Finally, multiple workshops and a doctoral symposium round off Middleware this year, making it an attractive conference for students, faculty, researchers, and practitioners.

Ferreira, 2020-05-13 This open access State of the Art Survey presents the main recent scientific outcomes in the area of reversible computation, focusing on those that have emerged during COST Action IC1405 Reversible Computation: Extending Horizons of Computing, a European research network that operated from May 2015 to April 2019. Reversible computation is a new paradigm that extends the traditional forward-only mode of computation with the ability to execute in reverse so that computation can run backwards as easily and naturally as forwards. It aims to deliver novel computing devices and software and to enhance existing systems by equipping them with reversibility. There are many potential applications of reversible computation, including languages and software tools for reliable and recovery-oriented distributed systems and revolutionary reversible logic gates and circuits, but they can only be realized and have lasting effect if conceptual and firm theoretical
