The Practice of Autonomy Carl Schneider, 1998 Exploring what patients do want gives direction to the author's inquiry into what they should want What patients want he believes is properly more complex and ambiguous than being empowered In this book he charts that ambiguity to take the autonomy principle past current pieties into the uncertain realities of the sick room and the hospital ward The Practice of Autonomy is a sympathetic but trenchant study of the animating principle of modern bioethics It speaks with freshness insight and even passion to bioethicists and moral philosophers about their theories to lawyers about their methods to medical sociologists about their subject to policy makers about their ambitions to doctors about their work and to patients about their lives BOOK JACKET Statement of Disbursements of the House United States. Congress. House, 2003 Covers receipts and expenditures of appropriations and other funds Exploitation and Developing Countries Jennifer S. Hawkins, Ezekiel J. Emanuel, 2008-08-04 When is clinical research in developing countries exploitation Exploitation is a concept in ordinary moral thought that has not often been analyzed outside the Marxist tradition Yet it is commonly used to describe interactions that seem morally suspect in some way A case in point is clinical research sponsored by developed countries and carried out in developing countries with participants who are poor and sick and lack education Such individuals seem vulnerable to abuse But does this by itself make such research exploitative Exploitation and Developing Countries is an attempt by philosophers and bioethicists to reflect on the meaning of exploitation to ask whether and when clinical research in developing countries counts as exploitative and to consider what can be done to minimize the possibility of exploitation in such circumstances These reflections should interest clinical researchers since locating the line between appropriate and inappropriate use of subjects the line between exploitation and fair use is the central question at the heart of research ethics Reflection on this rich and important moral concept should also interest normative moral philosophers of a non Marxist bent In addition to the editors the contributors are Richard J Arneson Alisa L Carse Margaret Olivia Little Thomas Pogge Andrew W Siegel and Alan Wertheimer Statement of Disbursements of the House , 1998 Official Congressional Directory United States.
