Skills For The Future:

Future Skills Ulf-Daniel Ehlers, 2020-03-30 The starting point for the enormous career of the Future Skills concept is the insight that current concepts of higher education do not meet the urgent needs of our societies with convincing future concepts. Neither are they fit to help sustain our environment nor associated social or economic challenges. While social challenges are exacerbated by an accelerating process of globalisation and digital advancement at the same time these are the very forces that enable a multitude of new options for human development. In this situation of digital acceleration the characteristic feature is that of uncertainty and the inevitable necessity is that of creative responsibility. The NextSkills Studies are about models for future relevant skills so called Future Skills. They are developed through a multitude of research activities over the last decade involving a diverse range of international experts. Future Skills are the skills that enable future graduates to master the challenges of the future in the best possible way. The results show that in order to deal with future challenges students must develop curiosity, imagination, vision, resilience and self-confidence as well as the ability to act in a self-organized way. They must be able to understand and respect the ideas, perspectives and values of others and they must be able to deal with mistakes and regressions while at the same time progressing with care even against difficulties.

Handbook of Digital Higher Education Sharpe, Rhona, Bennett, Sue, Varga-Atkins, Tünde, 2022-06-10 With the COVID 19 pandemic rapidly escalating higher education's move online this timely Handbook offers holistic conceptualisations of digital higher education which consider personal pedagogic and organisational level change. Key findings from digital education research are aligned with case studies of institutional practices to consider the current and future role of digital technologies in higher education. Handbook of Open, Distance and Digital Education Olaf Zawacki-Richter, Insung Jung, 2023-01-01 This open access handbook offers a one stop shop for both new and established researchers, educators, policy makers and administrators in the field of open, distance and digital education (ODDE) to gain a comprehensive overview of the history, theory and practice at all levels of ODDE and at the same time stimulates in-depth discussions on various themes and issues of ODDE for today and future. Researchers, scholars and students in the field of ODDE can use this handbook as a major reference to conduct their own research and learning agendas. To cover the field comprehensively the handbook is structured following the 3M framework developed by one of the chief editors Zawacki Richter. The 3M framework categorizes the major research areas and issues in ODDE on three levels. Accordingly the handbook is divided into six sections in total: two sections at each of the three levels: 1. Macro Level: ODDE Systems and Theories; 2. Meso Level: Institutional Perspectives, Management and Organization; and 3. Micro Level: Learning and Teaching in ODDE. This is an open access book. Young People's Life-skills and the Future Janet Powney, Kevin Lowden, Stuart Hall, 2000 A study investigated what Scottish and English young people consider important life skills, how they believe they develop them and how necessary they see them to their future lives. More than 200 16-21 year olds examined photographs of events related to basic life tasks.

family close relationships work or school and leisure activities and then identified skills involved Life skills they identified as important largely agreed with those described by education authorities They considered the most important essential life skills to be communication and interpersonal skills Young people believed these skills were also those that employers consider essential valued and saw employment experience as the major influence in developing life skills added creative and aesthetic skills and physical and coordination skills to the traditional list of key skills described wide applications of problem solving and critical thinking skills and saw family work friends and school as the main influences on skill development Future considerations were identified as school curriculum work experience creative and aesthetic skills and motor coordination skills interagency cooperation information and communication technology socially disadvantaged young people community education services learning support and promotion of a culture of learning Appendixes include 17 references and life skills matrixes for 16 and 21 year olds YLB
