

THINKING & TALKING: A STRATEGIC SMALL GROUP DISCUSSION

Talking and Thinking is a discussion strategy that uses a silent cue to communicate with the group if each person is Thinking or if they Have Something to Say. Here's how it works:

Step 1

- Put students in groups of 3-4 and give each student a T&T Card

Step 2

- Offer students a question or a prompt to discuss. One student volunteers to share first.

Step 3

- Each student in the group displays their status on the card, either that they are thinking – and don't want to talk, or that they have something to say, and want to be called on.

Step 4

- After the first student speaks, they select a student with the Caption Bubble, "I have something to say". That student shares and then selects a new student.

Step 5

- When everyone has their I'm Thinking bubble, the group goes on to the next question or prompt.

Methods in Community-Based Participatory Research for Health

Barbara A. Israel, Eugenia Eng, Amy J. Schulz, Edith A. Parker, 2005-08-19 Written by distinguished experts in the field this book shows how researchers, practitioners, and community partners can work together to establish and maintain equitable partnerships using a Community-Based Participatory Research (CBPR) approach to increase knowledge and improve health and well-being of the communities involved. CBPR is a collaborative approach to research that draws on the full range of research designs including case study, etiologic, longitudinal, experimental, and nonexperimental designs. CBPR data collection and analysis methods involve both quantitative and qualitative approaches. What distinguishes CBPR from other approaches to research is the active engagement of all partners in the process. This book provides a comprehensive and thorough presentation of CBPR study designs, specific data collection and analysis methods, and innovative partnership structures and process methods. This book informs students, practitioners, researchers, and community members about methods and applications needed to conduct CBPR in the widest range of research areas including social determinants of health, health disparities, health promotion, community interventions, disease management, health services, and environmental health.

The

Process of Learning about Static Electricity and the Role of the Computer Simulator Valerie K. Otero,2001 The concepts investigated in this study stemmed from two things First a pilot study where we found that the static electricity simulator results coupled with the CPU pedagogical structure provided facilitated the articulation and sharing of ideas in a small group of three students From this we hypothesized that the simulator tools played a role in knowledge construction and we wanted to find out more about what role it played Second the past ten years of research in mathematics and science education has led to the recognition of the importance of the instructional setting collaboration and cognitive tools in the construction of knowledge A tradition has emerged where researchers have begun to look at the individual s knowledge construction through a different lens than the knowledge that emerges through group interactions From this type of research we can learn about the knowledge construction of the individual and the knowledge construction of the group We can understand how the interactions within the group have influenced the knowledge development of the individual However we cannot learn about how the individual influences the group parameters Repeated interactions between individuals and tools can fundamentally change the social and material setting We need to look at how the social and material setting changes as a result of the individuals interaction with it and how this changing social setting influences the conceptual development of the individual Investigating interdependent interaction between the individual and the social and material setting is the foundation for this work I believe that understanding learning requires more than understanding the individual and understanding the social environment of which he was a part Understanding learning means understanding how the individual changes the social and material setting and how these changes influence the individual This dissertation is devoted to understanding individuals learning the factors that influenced it and further understanding how these factors were determined by the knowledge evolution of the individual
