Smart Card Research And Applications:

Smart Card. Research and Applications Jean-Jacques Quisquater, Bruce Schneier, 2006-12-30 Smart cards have been driven by the need for a secure portable computing platform Hence it is no surprise that security considerations dominated their research The CARDIS conferences were created to provide a forum for this research CARDIS 1998 is the third international conference on Smart Card Research and Advanced Applications held in Louvain la Neuve Belgium 14 16 September 1998 The first CARDIS was held in Lille France in November 1994 and the second was held in Amsterdam The Netherlands in September 1996 The fourth CARDIS is scheduled to take place in Bristol UK in September 2000 <http://www.cardis.org> This volume contains the refereed papers presented at CARDIS 1998 These 35 papers were first published in a pre-proceedings and distributed to the attendees at the conference they have subsequently been revised and updated for this volume The papers discuss all aspects of smart card research Java cards electronic commerce applications efficiency security including cryptographic algorithms cryptographic protocols and authentication and architecture Submissions from Europe the U S Asia and Australia show that this is indeed an international area of research and one that is becoming more popular as practical demand for smart cards increase We wish to thank the Program Committee members who did an excellent job in reviewing papers and providing feedback to the authors Smart Card Research and Advanced Applications Josep Domingo-Ferrer, David Chan, Anthony Watson, 2013-03-14 Smart cards or IC cards offer a huge potential for information processing purposes The portability and processing power of IC cards allow for highly secure conditional access and reliable distributed information processing IC cards that can perform highly sophisticated cryptographic computations are already available Their application in the financial services and telecom industries are well known But the potential of IC cards goes well beyond that Their applicability in mainstream Information Technology and the Networked Economy is limited mainly by our imagination the information processing power that can be gained by using IC cards remains as yet mostly untapped and is not well understood Here lies a vast uncovered research area which we are only beginning to assess and which will have a great impact on the eventual success of the technology The research challenges range from electrical engineering on the hardware side to tailor made cryptographic applications on the software side and their synergies This volume comprises the proceedings of the Fourth Working Conference on Smart Card Research and Advanced Applications CARDIS 2000 which was sponsored by the International Federation for Information Processing IFIP and held at the Hewlett Packard Labs in the United Kingdom in September 2000 CARDIS conferences are unique in that they bring together researchers who are active in all aspects of design of IC cards and related devices and environments thus stimulating synergy between different research communities from both academia and industry This volume presents the latest advances in smart card research and applications and will be essential reading for smart card developers smart card application developers and computer science researchers involved in computer architecture computer security and cryptography Smart Card Research and Advanced
