could love another man in his own gay way Subsequent essays investigate the influence on the author of his two immigrant grandfathers and the unsavory memories of a racist past growing up in Louisiana in the 1950s 60s and 70s A further essay explores the author's primal fears of darkness and death and how he achieved a satisfactory resolution of those fears A final essay explores the reams of war time letters that constituted the courtship of the author's parents who maintained their connection through letters for the nearly three years they were apart during WWII These letters focus on the challenging beginnings of a 54 year love affair as well as on conditions during the war of a soldier overseas and his intended at home in Ohio whom he was courting by near daily correspondence The essays in this book offer accounts of seminal remembered experiences in the author's past now interpreted in a language unavailable to him at the time those experiences were occurring In these reliable accounts the author tells the truth about his gay life in the most honest way he knows how to invent it
