Making Higher Education Christian Joel A. Carpenter, Kenneth W. Shipps, 2019-04-29 This book takes stock of an important but often hidden aspect of American Protestant evangelicalism its efforts in higher education The many liberal arts colleges graduate theological seminaries and Bible colleges nationwide that serve evangelical traditions and movements have remained nearly invisible to the academic establishment until recently The essays presented here reflect a maturing community of scholarship focused on the unfinished business of developing a thoroughly Christian approach to contemporary higher education They offer new theoretical perspectives on the aims and bases of educating candid assessments of shortcomings in evangelical scholarship and concrete suggestion for effective approaches to contemporary problems

The Oxford Handbook of Calvin and Calvinism Bruce Gordon, Carl R. Trueman, 2021 John Calvin was a leader of the European Reformation of the sixteenth century and the influence of his thought remains crucial in our world This collection explores the origins of Calvin s thought and the theological historical and cultural circumstances in which they have evolved from Geneva to our times

Pico's Heptaplus and Biblical Hermeneutics Crofton Black, 2006 This is the first full length study of the Heptaplus the commentary on the creation narrative of Genesis 1 by the celebrated Italian philosopher Giovanni Pico della Mirandola It focuses on Pico s theory of allegory This theory was fundamentally dissimilar to mainstream medieval and Renaissance approaches to biblical interpretation Rather than use the standard four senses of Scripture Pico adopted an esoteric hermeneutic stance characteristic of Neoplatonic and kabbalistic exegesis and developed an allegorical theory based on epistemology and the idea of intellectual ascent The exploration of this theme makes it possible not only to interpret the Heptaplast in relation to Pico's other works but also to assess its role as a response to the contemporary philosophical controversy surrounding the intellect

Studies in Medieval and Reformation Traditions Falk Eisermann, 2011 Religion and Culture in Germany (1400-1800) Robert Scribner, 2021-10-18 The late Bob Scribner was one of the most original and provocative historians of the German Reformation His truly pioneering spirit comes to light in this collection of his most recent essays In the years before his death Scribner explored the role of the senses in late medieval devotional culture and wondered how the Reformation changed sensual attitudes Further essays examine the nature of popular culture and the way the Reformation was institutionalised considering Anabaptist ideals of the community of goods literacy and heterodoxy and the dynamics of power as they unfold in a case of witchcraft The final section of the book consists of three iconoclastic essays which together form a sustained assault on the argument first advanced by Max Weber that the Reformation created a rational modern religion Scribner shows that far from being rationalist and anti magical Protestants had their own brand of magic These fine essays are certain to spark off debate not only among historians of the Reformation but also among art historians and anyone interested in the nature of culture

Jean Gerson and Gender N. McLoughlin, 2016-01-12 Jean Gerson and Gender examines the deployment of gendered rhetoric by the influential late medieval politically active theologian Jean Gerson 1363-1429 as a means of understanding his reputation for political neutrality the role played by royal women in the French royal court and the rise of the European witch hunts

Reason, Community and Religious Tradition Scott Matthews, 2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2001 Reason Community and Religious Tradition examines key questions about the relationship of rationality to its contexts by tracing the early history of the so called ontological argument The book follows Anselm's Proslogion from its origins in the private devotional context of an eleventh century monastery to its reception in the public and adversarial contexts of the friars' schools in the thirteenth century Using unpublished manuscript evidence from the Dominican and Franciscan schools at Oxford Paris and Bologna in the thirteenth century Matthews argues that the debate over Anselm's argument embodied the broader religious differences between the Franciscan and Dominican communities By comparing the most famous figures of the period with their lesser known contemporaries Matthews argues that the Friars thought as communities and developed as traditions as they developed their arguments This book will interest anyone concerned with the nature of rationality and its relationship to communities and traditions and what this entails for rational debate across cultural divides In particular it offers a fresh perspective on traditional approaches to the rationality of religion and religious belief
