Studies In Turkish Linguistics Typological Studies In Language:

Studies in Turkish Linguistics Dan I. Slobin, Karl Zimmer, 1986-01-01 Turkish is a member of the Turkic family of languages which extends over a vast area in southern and eastern Siberia and adjacent portions of Iran, Afghanistan and China. Turkic in turn belongs to the Altaic family of languages. This book deals with the morphological and syntactic, semantic and discourse based synchronic and diachronic aspects of the Turkish language. Although an interest in morphosyntactic issues pervades the entire collection, the contributions can be grouped in terms of relative attention to syntax, semantics and discourse and acquisition.

Handbook of Quantifiers in Natural Language: Volume II Denis Paperno, Edward L. Keenan, 2017-06-30 This work presents the structure, distribution and semantic interpretation of quantificational expressions in languages from diverse language families and typological profiles. The current volume pays special attention to underrepresented languages of different status and endangerment level. Languages covered include American and Russian Sign Languages and sixteen spoken languages from Africa, Australia, Papua, the Americas and different parts of Asia. The articles respond to a questionnaire the editors constructed to enable detailed crosslinguistic comparison of numerous features. They offer comparable information on semantic classes of quantifiers, generalized existential, generalized universal, proportional, partitive, syntactically complex, quantifiers, intensive modification, Boolean compounds, exception phrases, etc. and several more specific issues such as quantifier scope, ambiguities, floating quantifiers and binary type 2 quantifiers. The book is intended for semanticists, logicians interested in quantification in natural language and general linguists as articles are meant to be descriptive and theory independent. The book continues and expands the coverage of the Handbook of Quantifiers in Natural Language 2012 by the same editors and extends the earlier work in Matthewson 2008, Gil et al 2013 and Bach et al 1995.

Mood in the Languages of Europe Björn Rothstein, Rolf Thieroff, 2010 This book is the first comprehensive survey of mood in the languages of Europe. It gives readers access to a collection of data on mood. Each article presents the mood system of a specific European language in a way that readers not familiar with this language are able to understand and to interpret the data. The articles contain information on the morphology and semantics of the mood system, the possible combinations of tense and mood, morphology and the possible uses of the non-indicative moods. The papers address the explanation of mood from an empirical and descriptive perspective. This book is of interest to scholars of mood and modality, language contact and areal linguistics and typology.

The Turkic Languages Lars Johanson, Éva Á. Csató, 2015-04-29 The Turkic Languages examines the modern languages within this wide ranging language family and gives an historical overview of their development. The first part covers generalities providing an introduction to the grammatical traditions, subgrouping and writing systems of this language family. The latter part of the book focuses on descriptions of the individual languages themselves. Each language description gives an overview of the language followed by detail on phonology, morphology, syntax, lexis and dialects. The language chapters are similarly structured to enable the reader to access and compare information easily Each chapter represents a self contained article written by a recognised expert in the field Suggestions are made for the most useful sources of further reading and the work is comprehensively indexed
