Studies In Early Egyptian Glass Paperback:

Studies in Early Egyptian Glass Christine Lilyquist, Robert H. Brill, M. T. Wypyski, 1993 Materials from the tomb of Tuthmosis III's three foreign wives are the starting point for studies exploring glassmaking in Egypt about 1800-1400 B.C.

A History of Research Into Ancient Egyptian Culture in Southeast Europe Mladen Tomorad, 2015-02-26 This book will try to give a review of the history of the studies of Ancient Egypt done in Southeast Europe and present some of the latest research. The book comprises a selection of papers in which scholars from various institutions of the region reviewed the different aspects of past studies along with recent research in the field. The Ancient Egyptian Book of the Moon: Coffin Texts Spells 154-160 Gyula Priskin, 2019-05-02 This book proposes that Coffin Texts spells 154-160 recorded at the beginning of the 2nd millennium BCE form the oldest composition about the moon in ancient Egypt and indeed the world. Based on a new translation, the detailed analysis of these spells reveals that they provide a chronologically ordered account of the phenomena of a lunar month. Technology and Urbanism in Late Bronze Age Egypt Anna K. Hodgkinson, 2017-12-01 This book provides the first systematic and comprehensive discussion of the intra-urban distribution of high status goods and their production or role as a marker of the nature of the settlements known as royal cities of New Kingdom Egypt c. 1550-1069 BC. Using spatial analysis to detect patterns of artefact distribution, the study focuses on Amarna, Gurob and Malqata, incorporating Qantir/Pi-Ramesse for comparison. Being royal cities, these three settlements had a great need for luxury goods. Such items were made of either highly valuable materials or materials that were not easily produced and therefore required a certain set of skills. Specifically, the industries discussed are those of glass, faience, metal sculpture and textiles. Analysis of the evidence of high status industrial processes throughout the urban settlements has demonstrated that industrial activities took place in institutionalized buildings in houses of the elite and also in small domestic complexes. This leads to the conclusion that materials were processed at different levels throughout the settlements and were subject to a strict pattern of control. The methodological approach to each settlement necessarily varies depending on the nature and quality of the available data. By examining the distribution of high status or luxury materials in addition to archaeological and artefactual evidence of their production, a deeper understanding has been achieved of how industries were organized and how they influenced urban life in New Kingdom Egypt. Acta Orientalia, 1995 The Evolution of the Book Frederick G. Kilgour, 1998-04-23 Distinguished scholar and library systems innovator Frederick Kilgour tells a five thousand year story in this exciting work, a tale beginning with the invention of writing and concluding with the emerging electronic book. Calling on a lifetime of interest in the growth of information technology, Kilgour brings a fresh approach to the history of the book, emphasizing in rich authoritative detail the successive technological advances that allowed the book to keep pace with ever increasing needs for information. Borrowing a concept from evolutionary theory, the notion of punctuated equilibria to structure his account, Kilgour investigates the book's three discrete historical forms: the clay tablet, papyrus roll and codex.

before turning to a fourth still evolving form the cyber book a version promising swift electronic delivery of information in text sound and motion to anyone at any time The clay tablet initially employed as a content descriptor for sacks of grain proved inadequate to the growing need for commercial and administrative records Its successor the papyrus roll was itself succeeded by the codex a format whose superior utility and information capacity led to sweeping changes in the management of accumulated knowledge the pursuit of learning and the promulgation of religion Kilgour throughout considers closely both technological change and the role this change played in cultural transformation His fascinating account of the modern book from Gutenberg s invention of cast type printing five hundred years ago to the arrival of books displayed on a computer screen spotlights the inventors engineers and entrepreneurs who in creating the machinery of production and dissemination enabled the book to maintain its unique cultural power over time Deft provocative and accessibly written The Evolution of the Book will captivate book lovers as well as those interested in bibliographic history the history of writing and the history of technology

Working in the Suburbs Anna K. Hodgkinson, 2025-04-01 A century ago Charles Leonard Woolley directed the first excavations at Amarna site M50 14 16 identifying it as a workshop for glass and faience However the archaeological record and its publication in The City of Akhenaten I were somewhat superficial New excavations conducted by the Amarna Project in 2014 and 2017 yielded extensive evidence of glass faience stone and metalworking reaffirming the site s role as a workshop These investigations also illuminated its domestic character uncovering valuable data on houses and other structural remains This volume presents a near complete record of the site offering a comprehensive archaeological and architectural evaluation alongside in depth analyses of material culture including archaeobotany charcoal animal bones ceramics and other artefacts The individual chapters reconstruct the chaines operatoires of various craft production activities Additionally the organisation of production and the concept of cross craft interaction are explored as the site is situated within the broader industrial network of Amarna This volume furthermore provides an in depth examination of the inhabitants roles and daily lives enriching our understanding of this significant site

The Hypocephalus: An Ancient Egyptian Funerary Amulet Tamás Mekis, 2020-02-29 The hypocephalus is an element of Late Period and Ptolemaic funerary equipment an amuletic disc placed under the head of mummies Its shape emulates the sun s disc and its form is planar although it is occasionally concave This volume analyses the written records and iconography of these objects
