Studies On The Royal Administration:

Students and Society in Early Modern Spain Richard L. Kagan, 2019-12-01 Originally published in 1974 The close connection between universities and bureaucratic institutions such as church and state was perhaps first noticed by Max Weber Such institutions he observed require a dependable source of cadres to run them Thus the size and composition of university enrollments are often a function of bureaucratic needs Richard Kagan examines the dynamics of this relationship historically by racing the growth and decline of the university system in Castile the heart of the Spanish monarchy between 1500 and 1809 This period marked the emergence of a strong Habsburg state and a militant Catholic church both of which looked to the universities for educated men Accordingly the universities grew rapidly and by 1600 Castile was perhaps the best educated kingdom in Europe But this did not last Jobs were increasingly filled through nepotism causing students to abandon the universities in search of other careers By 1700 the universities were small backward institutions Kagan begins by examining the nature and position of primary secondary and university institutions in Hapsburg Spain concentrating on the extent and purpose of literacy In Part II Kagan discusses the growth and development of the ruling hierarchies in the bureaucratic world and gives special consideration to the criteria used to recruit officials The author concludes with an assessment of the impact of bureaucratic changes in church and state on the universities of Castile The data he collects on changes in the curriculum the professorate and the social and geographical backgrounds of the students are used to support hypotheses about the spectacular rise and collapse of university education in Spain the process of modernization the development of bureaucracies and the crisis of the Spanish monarchy Students and Society in Early Modern Spain demonstrates that institutions of higher learning often collapse when they become over professionalized and fail to respond to changing conditions Thus Kagan provides a study of education and social change of why educational institutions are central to a society in one century but only peripheral to it in the next The author casts new light not only on the short lived educational revolution of the sixteenth century but also on education in other societies both past and present Administration and Organization of War in Thirteenth-Century England David S. Bachrach, 2020-03-11 The essays brought together in this volume examine the conduct of war by the Angevin kings of England during the long thirteenth century 1189-1307 Drawing upon a wide range of unpublished administrative records that have been largely ignored by previous scholarship David S Bachrach offers new insights into the military technology of the period including the types of artillery and missile weapons produced by the royal government The studies in this volume also highlight the administrative sophistication of the Angevin kings in military affairs showing how they produced and maintained huge arsenals mobilized vast quantities of supplies for their armies in the field and provided for the pastoral care of their men Bachrach also challenges the knight centric focus of much of the scholarship on this period demonstrating that the militarization of the English population penetrated to men in the lower social and economic strata who volunteered in large numbers for military service and even made careers as professional soldiers CS1088 Implementing Research Management Policies in ASEAN Higher Education Institutions Rany, Sam,2025-11-20 Strengthening research governance in ASEAN's higher education sector is vital for driving innovation, economic growth and regional competitiveness on the global stage. Effective policies can help overcome challenges such as uneven funding, regulatory differences and administrative barriers enabling institutions to maximize their research potential. By fostering collaboration, ensuring ethical compliance and optimizing resource allocation, strong research management supports the creation of impactful knowledge that benefits society. These efforts not only enhance the global standing of ASEAN universities but also contribute to sustainable development and cross border problem solving in the region. Implementing Research Management Policies in ASEAN Higher Education Institutions comprehensively analyzes research management policies in ASEAN higher education institutions identifying key challenges and best practices to enhance research productivity and governance. By exploring policy frameworks, funding strategies, ethical compliance and institutional collaborations, it bridges gaps in research management and offers practical solutions tailored to the ASEAN context. Covering topics such as doctoral education reform, research productivity and university rankings, this book is an excellent resource for administrators, policymakers, research managers, academicians and more.

Report of the Commissioner of Education, 1898 University Bulletin University of Pennsylvania, 1898 Digital Inequalities in Media Education in South Asia Padma Rani, Bhanu Bhakta Acharya, Kulveen Trehan, 2025-01-24 This study explores the media education systems in South Asia looking not just at the heavy disruption of the Covid 19 pandemic but also the long standing digital inequalities and unequal socioeconomic opportunities that lead to reduced access to devices, technology and digital media. With a focus on eight South Asian countries (Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan and Sri Lanka), the chapters examine the adoption of technology for pedagogical purposes during the pandemic and the underlying socioeconomic reasons behind difficulties in implementing such rapid digital transformation in the region. The authors then consider how we can draw from the performance of South Asian media education institutions already suffering from various digital divides during the Covid 19 pandemic to apply these lessons to the broader academic community. With contributions from an international team of authors, this book will interest students, scholars and policymakers around the world working in the areas of media literacy, education studies, digital media, global development and sociology. Country Presentation by the Royal Government of Butan, 1990 A Pictorial School History of the United States John Jacob Anderson, 1873

Performance Spaces and Stage Technologies Yuji Nawata, Hans Joachim Dethlefs, 2022-01-05 The history of theatre has often been written as a history of great writers, actors or directors. This book takes a different approach. The contributors examine the history of performance from the perspective of theatre spaces and stage technologies. Art, literature, religion, law, urbanism, architecture, technology, this interdisciplinary book discusses how these fields relate to theatre and performance. Geographically, it covers a significant portion of the globe chronologically, it ranges from ancient times to the present. This
