Study Of The Student Homes Of China:

A Study of the Student Homes of China Ava Bertha Milam, Ava Milam Clark, 1930 Handbook of Research on Assessment Practices and Pedagogical Models for Immigrant Students Keengwe, Jared, Onchwari, Grace, 2019-06-14

Standardized tests have been selected as a key assessment factor in expanding the academic achievement of the national student population. However, these tests position immigrant students at the risk of academic failure, leading education experts to search for new strategies and teaching models. The Handbook of Research on Assessment Practices and Pedagogical Models for Immigrant Students is a critical research publication that focuses on research-based pedagogical practices for teaching immigrant students. Edited by a prominent IGI Global editor, this book examines the latest professional development models and assessment practices of English learners (ELs). Covering essential topics such as second language acquisition (SLA), classroom management, teacher education, refugee resettlement programs, and more, this publication is a valuable resource for academicians, professionals, researchers, administrators, faculty, and classroom teachers, as the social and academic needs of English language learners continue to present a challenge for many schools and teachers. China Exchange News, 1988

Dwelling in the World Elizabeth LaCouture, 2021-08-10

By the early twentieth century, Chinese residents of the northern treaty port city of Tianjin were dwelling in the world. Divided by nine foreign concessions, Tianjin was one of the world's most colonized and cosmopolitan cities. Residents could circle the globe in an afternoon, strolling from a Chinese courtyard house through a Japanese garden, past a French Beaux Arts bank to dine at a German café and fall asleep in a British garden city style semi-attached brick house. Dwelling in the World considers family, house, and home in Tianjin to explore how tempos and structures of everyday life changed with the fall of the Qing Empire and the rise of a colonized city. Elizabeth LaCouture argues that the intimate ideas and practices of the modern home were more important in shaping the gender and status identities of Tianjin's urban elites than the new public ideology of the nation. Placing the Chinese home in a global context, she challenges Euro-American historical notions that the private sphere emerged from industrialization. She argues that concepts of individual property rights that emerged during the Republican era became foundational to state-society relations in early Communist housing reforms and in today's middle-class real estate boom. Drawing on diverse sources from municipal archives, women's magazines, and architectural field work to social surveys and colonial records, Dwelling in the World recasts Chinese social and cultural history, offering new perspectives on gender and class, colonialism and empire, visual and material culture, and technology and everyday life. Settlement Spaces: Urban Survival

Prospects of China's Special Communities Xiao Wu, Lingjin Wang, 2021-10-16

This book examines the settlement space of special communities in China on the community scale from an interdisciplinary approach that combines perspectives from urban planning and sociology. Using the framework of integration response, it theoretically and empirically explores the approaches these communities adopt to survive and evolve. Empirically, this discussion centers on four particular groups:

namely international students land lost peasants ethnic minorities and migrant workers and offers an analysis of their settlement spaces from different perspectives Theoretically this study optimizes the logic of one way integration as used in classical theories By constructing a two way linkage in the theoretical framework of integration response it provides a multi scenario interpretation and summary of the laws of survival and evolution that govern the urban settlements of special communities in China This study conforms to the major transformations that China has undergone in the concepts models and orientation of its development since the 18th National Congress of the Chinese Communist Party Furthermore it renders profound research value and bears practical significance for the adjustment and management of urban spatial patterns in China social care for marginalized groups and the construction of a harmonious and moderately prosperous society This study provides valuable reference for educators researchers and management personnel across various fields including urban planning geography and sociology
