Audience Research Methodologies Geoffroy Patriarche, Helena Bilandzic, Jakob Linaa Jensen, Jelena Jurišić, 2013-07-31 The transformations of people's relations to media content technologies and institutions raise new methodological challenges and opportunities for audience research. This edited volume aims at contributing to the development of the repertoire of methods and methodologies for audience research by reviewing and exemplifying approaches that have been stimulated by the changing conditions and practices of audiences. The contributions address a range of issues and approaches related to the diversification, integration and triangulation of methods for audience research to the gap between the researched and the researchers to the study of online social networks and to the opportunities brought about by Web 2.0 technologies as research tools.

Understanding Audiences Andy Ruddock, 2001-03-08 The history of audience research tells us that the relationship between the media and viewers, readers and listeners is complex and requires multiple methods of analysis. In Understanding Audiences Andy Ruddock introduces students to the range of quantitative and qualitative methods and invites his readers to consider the merits of both. Understanding Audiences demonstrates how practically to investigate media power places audience research from early mass communication models to cultural studies approaches in their historical and epistemological context. explores the relationship between theory and method concludes with a consideration of the long running debate on media effects includes exercises which invite readers to engage with the practical difficulties of conducting social research.

Marketing Blurb Globalizing Cultural Studies Cameron McCarthy, 2007 The contributors to Globalizing Cultural Studies Ethnographic Interventions in Theory, Method and Policy take as their central topic the problematic status of the global within cultural studies in the areas of theory, method and policy and particularly in relation to the intersections of language power and identity in twenty first century post 9/11 culture's. Writing against the Anglo centric ethnographic gaze that has saturated various cultural studies projects to date contributors offer new interdisciplinary, autobiographical, ethnographic, textual, postcolonial, poststructural and political economic approaches to the practice of cultural studies. This edited volume foregrounds twenty five groundbreaking essays plus a provocative foreword and an insightful afterword in which the authors show how globalization is articulated in the micro and macro dimensions of contemporary life pointing to the need for cultural studies to be more systematically engaged with the multiplicity and difference that globalization has proffered.
