The Modernization of Iran Amin Banani, 1969

A Social History of Modern Tehran Ashkan Rezvani

Naraghi, 2023-01-05 Tehran the capital of Iran since the late eighteenth century is now one of the largest cities in the Middle East Exploring Tehran's development from the nineteenth to the mid twentieth century Ashkan Rezvani Naraghi paints a vibrant picture of a city undergoing rapid and dynamic social transformation Rezvani Naraghi demonstrates that this shift was the product of a developing discourse around spatial knowledge in which the West became the model for the social practices of the state and sections of Iranian society As traditional social spaces such as coffee houses bathhouses and mosques were replaced by European style cafes theatres and sports clubs Tehran and its people were irreversibly altered Using an array of archival sources Rezvani Naraghi stresses the agency of everyday inhabitants in shaping urban change This enlightening history not only allows us to better understand the contours of contemporary Tehran but to develop a new way of imagining talking about and building the city

Intellectuals in the Twentieth Century Ali Gheissari, 2010-01-01 Since the middle of the nineteenth century Iranian intellectuals have been preoccupied by issues of political and social reform Iran's relation with the modern West and autocracy or arbitrary rule Drawing from a close reading of a broad array of primary sources this book offers a thematic account of the Iranian intelligentsia from the Constitutional movement of 1905 to the post 1979 revolution Ali Gheissari shows how in Iran as in many other countries intellectuals have been the prime mediators between the forces of tradition and modernity and have contributed significantly to the formation of the modern Iranian self image His analysis of intellectuals response to a number of fundamental questions such as nationalism identity and the relation between Islam and modern politics sheds new light on the factors that led to the Iranian Revolution the twentieth century's first major departure from Western political ideals and helps explain the complexities surrounding the reception of Western ideologies in the Middle East

Imagining Iran Majid Sharifi, 2013-08-22 Thematically this book problematizes Iranian official nationalism It reviews how every modern Iranian regime since the constitutional revolution of the 1905-06 has failed to legitimize its official identity resulting in the fall of five different regimes The book details how the collapse of each regime resulted in the interruption of the official meaning of being Iranian as well as the meanings of its enemies What remained the same was how every Iranian regime represented itself as the agent of a particular national desire defined in terms of making Iran to become sovereign developed democratic and constitutional Nonetheless no regime was able to convince a great majority of the people that it achieved what it represented This book makes three specific contributions The first contribution is pedagogical By focusing on the dynamics of regime changes it provides a heuristic model for identifying challenges that all Iranian regimes have faced Moreover the book is a comprehensive review of the disruptive oppressive and bloody nature of the rise and fall of different regimes The second contribution is theoretical Rather than examining the behavior of various Iranian regimes in isolation from their international context the book examines how each regime got to understand itself in relations to its imperial others By examining the governmental rationality of each regime the book offers a better theoretical framework for understanding political development not only in Iran but also in all other Middle Eastern and South Asian states Finally the third contribution of this book is its critical approach to the main body of the literature on Iran modernity development democracy and constitutionalism

Iran Abbas Amanat, 2017-10-24 A masterfully researched and compelling history of Iran from 1501 to 2009 This history of modern Iran is not a survey in the conventional sense but an ambitious exploration of the story of a nation It offers a revealing look at how events people and institutions are shaped by currents that sometimes reach back hundreds of years The book covers the complex history of the diverse societies and economies of Iran against the background of dynastic changes revolutions civil wars foreign occupation and the rise of the Islamic Republic Abbas Amanat combines chronological and thematic approaches exploring events with lasting implications for modern Iran and the world Drawing on diverse historical scholarship and emphasizing the twentieth century he addresses debates about Iran's culture and politics Political history is the driving narrative force given impetus by Amanat's decades of research and study He layers the book with discussions of literature music and the arts ideology and religion economy and society and cultural identity and heritage

Revolution and Reform in Russia and Iran Ghoncheh Tazmini, 2012-03-30 The Russian Revolutions of 1917 and the Iranian Revolution of 1979 are two examples of dramatic sudden and extraordinary political upheaval that significantly altered the nature of the state and society in the modern age Here Ghoncheh Tazmini provides an unprecedented comparative study of these two major revolutions of the twentieth century which although removed from each other both spatially and temporally have striking similarities Examining the roots events and impact of these two defining upheavals Tazmini analyses how they resemble each other stressing the continuity of the dilemma of modernisation for the Romanov Pahlavi Communist and Islamist rulers alike This book is a significant contribution to both historical and contemporary debates concerning Russian and Iranian politics and to the discourse on the origins and consequences of modernisation and revolution themselves

American-Iranian Dialogues Matthew K. Shannon, 2021-10-07 Bringing together historians of US foreign relations and scholars of Iranian studies American-Iranian Dialogues examines the cultural connections between Americans and Iranians from the constitutional period of the 1890s through to the start of the White Revolution in the 1960s Taking an innovative cultural approach chapters are centred around major themes in American-Iranian encounters and cultural exchange throughout this period including stories of origin cultural representations nationalism and discourses on development Expert contributors draw together different strands of US-Iranian relations to discuss a range of path breaking topics such as the history of education heritage exchange oil development and the often overlooked interactions between American and Iranian non state actors Through exploring the understudied cultural dimensions of US-Iranian relations this book will be essential reading for students and scholars interested in American history international history Iranian studies and Middle Eastern studies

The Islamist Turn on Ideological Grounds

Adnan Türegün, 2025-06-16 Many states in the Islamic Middle East North Africa and South Asia that had previously experienced some measure of secularism turned to Islam in the late 20th and early 21st centuries In so doing they have changed the political landscape of their nations and the entire region also significantly influencing international politics The Islamist Turn outlines explains and demonstrates this change And on all three counts the book fills an important gap in our collective knowledge by developing a typology of Islamist turns based on the institutional aspect of the change offering an ideational explanation of the turns with an emphasis on the political ideologies and strategies of rulers and studying the cases of Turkey Egypt Pakistan and Iran as exemplary of the Islamist turns in the region

A History Of The Modern

Middle East William L Cleveland, 2000 This comprehensive work provides a penetrating analysis of modern Middle Eastern history from the Ottoman and Egyptian reforms through the challenge of Western imperialism to the Iranian Revolution and the Gulf War After introducing the reader to the region's history from the origins of Islam in the seventh century Cleveland focuses on the past two centuries of profound and often dramatic change While built around a framework of political history the book also carefully integrates social cultural and economic developments into a single carefully crafted account The revised and updated second edition of this benchmark text includes information on the Middle East since the close of the Cold War and a new section on civil society and Islamic politics in the 1990s

Iran Mohammad Amjad, 1989-12-08 This splendid book offers an insight into why Iran once assumed to have one of the most stable governments in the Middle East crumbled so rapidly in 1979 Amjad's study attempts to answer that question by investigating the socioeconomic and political factors that led to the Iranian Revolution and to the transformation of the Iranian state from a royal dictatorship into a theocracy The author concludes that a combination of factors such as economic mismanagement failure of agriculture inflation decline in oil revenues and political repression provided favorable conditions for the opposition to organize its forces against the Shah Thereafter within a few months after the overthrow of the monarchy the religious hierarchy with the support of the traditional bourgeoisie and petit bourgeoisie was able to eliminate the liberal bourgeoisie and create a theocracy in Iran Written in an easy flowing narrative style this book is finely produced and makes a valuable contribution for those interested in Iranian studies Includes a useful glossary an index and an up to date bibliography

Choice The unforeseen Iranian revolution stunned not only the Shah but also observers around the globe This element of the unexpected was based as Amjad argues on misconceptions concerning both the Shah's power and the apparent weakness and fragmentation of the opposition This comprehensive volume provides thorough historical perspectives on the socioeconomic and political factors that precipitated the revolution and transformed the Iranian state from a royal dictatorship into a theocracy Amjad analyzes the nature of the Iranian state in both pre and post revolutionary periods looks at the kinds of changes in Iran during its transition to capitalism and explains the rationale behind the important part played by Islam in the revolution Particular attention is paid to the Shah's role in alienating the populace at all levels of society and to how Shi'ite Islam's militant mullahs were able in the absence of a nationwide political organization to lead the revolution. Iran's populist ideology and its priorities of creating a welfare state to provide social welfare for the poor and forming an alliance between the upper and lower classes is exhaustively detailed here. Discussions of theories of state class revolution, economic development and also the impact of Islam in Iranian society and culture comprise the first three chapters. Socioeconomic development, class formation and the transformation of the Iranian state from 1941 to 1977 form the basis for chapters four through six. Chapters seven and eight consider the effect of domestic and international social factors on the revolution and describe how a royal dictatorship was transformed into a theocracy. This distinguished volume will prove invaluable for courses in comparative politics, international relations, the history of the modern Middle East, the history of modern Iran and Islam and its revolution.

Provincial Concerns James D. Clark, 2006. Most histories of nineteenth century Iran have been concerned with events at the center of the Qajar state: the shahs, their courts, the involvement of foreign powers despite the fact that the administrative system was still a very decentralized one. Provincial Concerns by James D. Clark turns its focus toward the outlying regions, looking at perhaps the most important province in Iran during this period: Azerbaijan. Without an understanding of what went on there, the author maintains, the history of the period can not be properly grasped. Associated with it were the most populous city in the country, the greatest amount of trade, many of the most important political figures, agricultural wealth, prominence in the military and a special position within the Qajar government, not least of all because its governor was also the heir apparent. Being primarily a narrative history of the period from 1818 to 1906, this book gives an account of how the province was administered, the problems the officials of the central and local governments encountered there and the new challenges that were arising at the end of the century as Iran became ever more exposed to world developments. Finally, the events and personalities in Azerbaijan at this time constitute an important prologue to the Iranian Constitutional Revolution.
