Collection of Mediterranean Antiquities, Vol. 1, The Ancient Glass Beaudoin Caron,Eléni P. Zoi topoúlou,2008-05-31

This catalogue raisonné describes a little known but very interesting collection originally assembled by one of the important Canadian collectors of the early 20th century. After an account of the collection's history and a brief discussion of the techniques of ancient glass making the catalogue proper presents 191 pieces comprising a very wide range of typical forms each of them fully illustrated. Publishing this extensive collection renders it available to a wide readership students curators archaeologists art historians collectors and everybody with serious interest in the material culture of the ancient world. It is the first of a series intended to make public the different parts of the museum's collection of Mediterranean antiquities.

Museum of Fine Arts ,2003      Sculpture and the Museum Christopher R. Marshall,2017-07-05 Sculpture and the Museum is the first in depth examination of the varying roles and meanings assigned to sculpture in museums and galleries during the modern period from neo-classical to contemporary art practice. It considers a rich array of curatorial strategies and settings in order to examine the many reasons why sculpture has enjoyed a position of such considerable importance and complexity within the institutional framework of the museum and how changes to the museum have altered in turn the ways that we perceive the sculpture within it. In particular the contributors consider the complex issue of how best to display sculpture across different periods and according to varying curatorial philosophies. Sculptors discussed include Canova Rodin Henry Moore Flaxman and contemporary artists such as Rebecca Horn Rachel Whiteread Mark Dion and Olafur Eliasson with a variety of museums in America Canada and Europe presented as case studies. Underlying all of these discussions is a concern to chart the critical importance of the acquisition placement and display of sculpture in museums and to explore the importance of sculptures as a forum for the expression of programmatic statements of power prestige and the museum's own sense of itself in relation to its audiences and its broader institutional aspirations.

Museum of Fine Arts (New York),      The Invention of the American Art Museum Kathleen Curran,2016-07-01 American art museums share a mission and format that differ from those of their European counterparts which often have origins in aristocratic collections. This groundbreaking work recounts the fascinating story of the invention of the modern American art museum starting with its roots in the 1870s in the craft museum type which was based on London's South Kensington now the Victoria and Albert Museum. At the turn of the twentieth century American planners grew enthusiastic about a new type of museum and presentation that was developed in Northern Europe particularly in Germany Switzerland and Scandinavia.

Called Kulturgeschichte cultural history museums they were evocative displays of regional history American trustees museum directors and curators found that the Kulturgeschichte approach offered a variety of transformational options in planning museums classifying and displaying objects and broadening collecting categories including American art and the decorative arts Leading institutions including the Museum of Fine Arts Boston and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York adopted and developed crucial aspects of the Kulturgeschichte model By the 1930s such museum plans and exhibition techniques had become standard practice at museums across the country Annual Report of the Museum of Fine Arts Museum of Fine Arts, Boston,1919 Fresh Paint Barbara Rose,Susie Kalil,Museum of Fine Arts, Houston,1985 The Museum of Fine Arts, Houston Museum of Fine Arts, Houston,1981 Museum of Fine Arts Bulletin Museum of Fine Arts, Boston,1917 Commission of Fine Arts United States.
