nutrients and of proteins for growth and maintenance of tissue has been established the necessity for carbohydrates and certain types of fat for health has been documented vitamins necessary to prevent deficiency diseases have been identified and isolated and the requirement of many mineral elements for health has been demonstrated Further investigations have defined the role of these nutrients in metabolic processes and quantitated their requirements at various stages of development Additional studies have involved their use in the possible prevention of and therapy for disease conditions

Hopkins, 1981 Abstract A critical assessment of currently used protein quality evaluation methods is given The material includes the importance of protein quality methods used to assess the protein nutritive value PNV in humans and in vitro methodology for assessing PNV Guidelines are given for assessing the precision and accuracy in estimates of PNV in human studies the acceptable degree of accuracy and precision in such estimates can then be defined Task force reports that discuss the validity and potential use of in vitro assays for predicting protein quality for human consumption are given wz      Bibliography of Agriculture, 1975      Soy Protein and Human Nutrition Harold Ludwig Wilcke, Daniel T. Hopkins, Doyle H. Waggle, 1979 Abstract New technologies have made it possible to produce soybean flours concentrates and isolates with diverse functional properties that fill many needs in food systems Results reported from nutritional experiments where soy proteins particularly the isolates were fed to infants growing children and young adults demonstrate that the soybean is a nutritionally adequate protein Better methods of protein evaluation for humans are suggested Types of soybean protein products available are defined based on their protein content and general methods of preparation Meetings have provided better understanding and agreement among nations on the philosophies of regulatory practices to ensure full information for the consumer and the food industry The concept of functionality must be broadened to include the nutritional and physiological function of the proteins and the final food product Research programs on the proper place of plant protein in the human diet are discussed
